France Acclaims Kennedy, 'Jacqui'

PARIS (Reuters)—President Kennedy said Wednesday night the security of the United States would be directly threatened if France were not independent, strong and sovereign.

The president spoke at a glittering state banquet celebrating a gay and affectionate welcome accorded to him and his wife, Jacqueline, on the crowded first day of a three-day visit to the French capital. Kennedy paid tribute to de Gaulle, saying "he stands now as the only great leader of the Second World War who occupies a position of high responsibility."

The youthful president and studiously lovely Jacqueline Kennedy took this capital by storm, the sun-drenched boulevards lined by crowds larger even than those which turned out last spring to cheer President Eisenhower.

AGREEMENT REACHED

Kennedy plunged immediately into conferences with de Gaulle as a preliminary to the historic confrontation with Russia's Premier Khrushchev in Vienna Saturday.

De Gaulle and Kennedy "came to a general agreement" on how to handle the Berlin situation, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger announced.

The two leaders also discussed, in an atmosphere of "great cordiality," the problems of Southeast Asia, the situation in Laos and "started on African problems," Salinger said.

GREAT RECEPTION

President Kennedy and his wife received a smashing reception, with crowds estimated around 250,000 shouting "Vive Kennedy" and "Jacqui!" The route into Paris took the Kennedys down the gay boulevard Saint Michel—heart of the student section which Jackie Kennedy knew during her Sorbonne days 10 years ago.

As they drove, a cannonade of 101 shots was fired at 10-second intervals from guns on the right bank of the River Seine.

WEALTH PLACED

At 4:30 p.m., amid thunder and lightning, the two presidents rode up the Champs Elysees to the Arch of Triumph where Kennedy placed a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

After the ceremony, in a gesture that won him cheers from the crowd, Kennedy turned aside to shake hands with French war veterans lined up along the national shrine.

DEEP INTEREST

In the course of his talks, Kennedy referred to his wife's deep interest in France. Recalling that many famous American presidents gained training as ambassadors to Paris, he said his first-hand knowledge of France was "acquired through marriage in stead."

RAFAEL TRUJILLO

News Blackout Follows Assassination

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Assassins have killed Rafael Leonidas Trujillo, the Dominican dictator.

The death of the 68-year-old strongman—dictator for 31 years and a storm centre in inter-American relations—was announced late Wednesday in Ciudad Trujillo, his capital. The communique gave no details except to say Trujillo fell victim to an attempted assassination during the night.

Other information reaching San Juan Wednesday night from responsible sources gave this version:

Seven persons in a car attacked Trujillo at 10 p.m. Tuesday as he was driving to Ciudad Trujillo from his home in San Cristobal. Trujillo was shot. Two of his attackers were caught or killed. The other five are presumed to have got away.

POLICE SEE BISHOP

As an aftermath to the assassination police went at 4:30 a.m. to the home of Roman Catholic Bishop Thomas Reilly, an American who has been under house arrest growing out of a dispute between Trujillo and the church. Bishop Reilly was taken away but later returned to his home—with apologies.

NEWS WITHHELD

The death of Trujillo was announced officially 19 hours after his death occurred. Presumably Trujillo's aides used this time to tighten military control of the country.

Joaquin Balaguer, the figurehead president under Trujillo's rule, signed the communique broadcast over Dominican radio stations and later telegraphed abroad.

Aside from the communique, correspondents in Ciudad Trujillo said they could not send any news.

'NO DISORDER'

The communique said the country was quiet and no disorders had occurred. It proclaimed nine days of mourning.

The slaying raised speculation in Latin America as to what part followers of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro might have had in the developments.

For a time early in his career, Castro encouraged efforts to invade the Dominican Republic. But recently there were signs that Trujillo and Castro were seeing more eye to eye in mutual distrust of Washington.

Leaderless Dominican Republic is now adrift in politically-seething Caribbean with Cuba on west, Venezuela on south.

Venezuela Plotters Supplied by Trujillo

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Dominican dictator who was assassinated Tuesday, Carlos Andres Perez, under secretary of the interior, said the plot was led by two former lieutenant-colonels who held positions in the former government of Marcos Perez Jimenez.

from boots to tanks, says he is trying to negotiate a deal with either Cuba or Israel.

"Right now I'm waiting for an export permit and if that's prohibited, I will sell them to flying clubs or any other interested organizations," says Mr. McMaster.

When the RCAF was flying Mr. McMaster's jets they were valued at nearly $1,000,000 apiece. He won't say what they're valued at now as scrap but "you couldn't buy one from me if you wanted to."

"However, I'm a gambler. If I can get a dime over what I paid for them, I'll do it," vowed Mr. McMaster.

The once deadly jets sitting just off the highway at Westbourne, northwest of Portage la Prairie, are looking a little worse for wear.

Some of the cockpits are filled with barbed wire to keep out junior jet jockeys. Several other planes lack their undercarriage, paint is peeling from the exterior surfaces, and inside, intricate-looking radio and electronic equipment hangs by wires.

Mr. McMaster's CF-100s are believed to have spent their last official military days at Cold Lake, Alta., and were flown to Macdonald RCAF station last year to await their fate on the auction block.

What are Mr. McMaster's chances of shipping his planes out of the country? Not very good at the moment, says a spokesman of the federal trade and commerce department in Ottawa.

EX-GENERALS GET 15 YEARS

Court Rules Out Death Sentence

PARIS (UPI)—A special high tribunal yesterday sentenced two former French generals to 15 years in prison as leaders of the Algeria insurrection against President Charles de Gaulle last month.

The court also ordered ex-generals Maurice Challe, 53, and Andre-Marie Zeller, 63, stripped of all decorations for their part in the uprising which threatened France with civil war.

PENSIONS LOST

The two generals were convicted after a three-day trial of organizing an armed insurrection. Maximum penalty on conviction is death, but the chief prosecutor said his conscience made it "impossible" for him to demand a death sentence.

Both Challe and Zeller already had been stripped of their military rank and pensions. The two had surrendered after the four-day revolt aimed at preventing what they called the "abandonment" of Algeria by France had collapsed.

STILL AT LARGE

Two other generals who helped mastermind the revolt are still at large.

The court decreed that the term would be "criminal detention"—a new French substitute for hard labor in which prisoners are subjected to a tougher regime than in ordinary prisons.

'SLEEPLESS NIGHTS'

The verdict came after a three-hour dramatic summation by prosecutor Antonin Besson in which he told the court that after a "week of sleepless nights" it was "impossible" for him to demand the death penalty.

"Justice remains of value only insofar as it is human," he told the tribunal of four civilians, four generals and one admiral.

Both Challe and Zeller maintained they had acted only to prevent France from losing Algeria to the Moslem rebels.

They denied they had any intention of invading metropolitan France as Premier Michel Debre had charged at the height of the revolt.

"I may have been wrong," Challe told the court, "but what I did I did for my country."

The generals, backed by extremist French settler groups, had accused de Gaulle of "selling out" Algeria by his program to grant independence to the Northwest African territory.

Young Sow Produces Record 39 Piglets

EAST ROYALTY, P.E.I. (CP)—A young sow produced her first litter of piglets Wednesday—and farmer Alex Rhyns is mighty proud of her.

The sow gave birth to 39 baby pigs, a feat provincial agriculture officials think may be a record. Ten to 12 is average.

Immigrant Workers Held in Toronto Construction War

TORONTO (CP)—Violence broke out again at construction sites in the Metropolitan Toronto area Wednesday while striking immigrant workers continued their efforts to stop all house-building.

The strikers, mainly newly arrived Italians, were in a grim mood as they swept through the suburbs in city convoys to persuade workers to put down tools and thus force contractors to give union conditions.

STONES THROWN

Flats flew, stones were hurled, and when the dust cleared police had arrested 10 strikers, bringing the total of arrests to 15 since the strike was called Sunday. Two contractors were arrested Tuesday on firearm charges.

In North York, two construction superintendents were punched in the face in scuffles that erupted after the arrival of carloads of strikers. Police appeared when one of the superintendents, Owen Richards, was struck in the eye.

Vittoria Torchia, 22, was charged with assault causing bodily harm.

CARS BLOCKED

Police said cruisers blocked two cars which attempted to leave the scene. The five occupants were taken into custody.

A barrage of stones was hurled at men working at a development in Etobicoke, Giuseppe Menno, 22, 160 Girdlewood, 23, Marina Nordens, 23, and Renato Pilleo, 37, were arrested.

WORK HELD UP

The mass raids on housing were launched by leaders of the walkout after 100 men succeeded in closing a major subdivision in Etobicoke Tuesday. Apartment construction was also brought to a near halt in parts of Etobicoke, North York and Scarborough.

UNION CLAIM

But spokesmen for the housing industry, core of the $150,000,000 residential construction field, maintained that only a small portion of their work has been affected.

Union leaders say many laborers are receiving 90 cents an hour, bricklayers $2 to $2.25 and carpenters $1.40 to $1.90. Top union rates are $2 for laborers, $3.05 for bricklayers and $2.70 for carpenters.

Parents Given $90,000

EDMONTON (CP)—An out-of-court settlement of about $90,000 has been made with the parents of 17 students killed last November when a school bus was hit by a freight train at Lamont, 45 miles northeast of Edmonton, it was learned Wednesday.

The settlement was made on behalf of the driver of the bus, the owner of the bus and the Lamont school division board.

LEVEL CROSSING

Seventeen students were killed and 23 were injured when a CNR freight train slammed into their bus at a level crossing near the Lamont high school.

Statements of claim involving more than $300,000 in damages have been filed on behalf of 20 injured students and their parents.

Bomber Aims At MacMillan

VANCOUVER (CP)—A dummy bomb was thrown through a window Wednesday night at the home of industrialist H. R. MacMillan in the fashionable Shaughnessy district.

The device, consisting of sticks of wood apparently intended to look like dynamite with a fuse attached, landed in the living room close to where Mr. MacMillan was sitting.

Gardenful of Jets Awaits Bidder

WINNIPEG (CP)—War surplus dealer J. L. McMaster of Westbourne, Man., has nearly $11,000,000 worth of surplus aircraft sitting on his property and he's hoping someone from either Israel or Cuba will snap them up at bargain prices.

Mr. McMaster now is the proud owner of 11 CF-100 jet interceptors—the sleek, front-line fighters which have recently been declared obsolete. Many still fly in Canadian skies until, one by one, they are "disposed of" as scrap to the highest bidder.

Mr. McMaster is one of the successful bidders. He has an acceptance order from Crown Assets Disposal Corporation stating the aircraft and engines of 11 CF-100s are his as scrap.

Mr. McMaster, long a dealer in all types of war surplus,

Demonstration Saturday

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A VANCOUVER paper put the wrong labels on pictures of the five candidates for Esquimalt-Saanich in the recent by-election.

The paper didn't just call one candidate by the wrong name. It got every candidate wrong. This kind of error creeps into the best-regulated paper at times.

The photographic mixup set me wondering how the vote would have gone if the candidates had exchanged faces.

All other things being equal, many an election has been won by a strong, authoritative-looking face or a few extra pounds of shoulder-muscle.

Within the limits of each party, I think all three of the leading candidates in the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election had the makings of able and conscientious members of Parliament.

I haven't met Mr. Hahn, Social Credit, or Mr. Poirier, Socialist, and I know little about them—apart from the official campaign biographies, which don't tell you much of value. It's quite likely that they would have made good members, too.

But when I looked at those mixed-up photographs in the paper, it occurred to me that personal merit and party soundness were not the only factors deciding whether a man gets the voters' favor. Much depends on his appearance and the sound of his voice.

With some research, a party might be able to arrive at a formula for choosing the candidate most likely to win.

Height is important. A probe of voting attitudes might produce a result like this: "Every inch in stature counts for 250 votes, up to a maximum of seven feet, when extra inches show a reverse effect. Candidates two feet tall will lose their deposits."

Every inch around the chest may be good for 150 votes.

Other important factors: The strength-kindness of the face; the quality of the voice (decisive, stern, sympathetic, smooth or gravelly—the right blend to appeal to the largest possible number of people); and candor of the grin.

You may think I am fooling, but I am serious. Besides the thinking people and the party faithful who will support their man, right or wrong, there are masses of the uncommitted who are swayed by these factors.

It won't be long before each party learns to measure these factors, and produce the standard candidate, built to precise specifications for the market, like the standard chicken—or turkey.

Gradual Tanning Reduces Sun Risk

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: Once they get used to the sunbathing, I let my children run around in just their shorts. My husband says that as soon as a day is enough for the sun to shine on their bare skin, and that too much sunbathing is harmful. I grant that, but we have only about three months in which they can run around as scantily clad—H.M."

Gradual exposure and tanning prevent the harm that comes with excessive exposure and burning of the skin. See that your youngsters don't get a bad sunburn in the beginning. This is usually easy enough to guard against.

I see no other reason than that to limit the amount of exposure to the sun. Remember this and perhaps your husband will see the logic of it, too: The average youngster running around in shorts, is in and out of the house, he's in the sun and then in the shade, he's climbing fences, playing tag, sitting under a tree. Kids, unlike adults, have sense enough to get in the shade when the noonday sun feels too hot.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What do you think about operating on an 18-year-old young man to correct a pigeon breast? He is unhappy with his appearance and would like something done—H.M."

This condition can be helped by surgery. I would think the deformity should be quite severe before undertaking this operation, but in suitable cases there is no reason to fear it. Quite the reverse. The decision should be made on the basis of the individual case. Your doctor can guide you on this.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My trouble is swelling of the ankles. The swelling leaves at night, but they are swollen full come evening. If two years of medication doesn't remove all the fluids from my system, including my ankles, is there any need to continue with drugs?"—Mrs. T.E."

This isn't quite like wringing out a sponge and then setting it on the shelf. It's more like a basement that floods. You install a pump to pump out water whenever it starts to rise. You wouldn't say, "I've kept pumping it out for two years; is there any need to keep on pumping?"

If you can find the leak in the basement and fix it, that's fine. But if you can't, the best thing is to keep pumping.

Note to MRS. O.D.C.: Uh, huh, I've heard about "mad stones," too, along with a lot of other ancient "remedies" dreamed up in the days when we didn't have any real answers to certain problems. They don't cure rabies (or hydrophobia). Rabies is caused by a virus, and the only way yet discovered to ward off rabies is by having vaccination against the disease.

TV Teaching Ready

The public will get a chance to see two demonstration TV lessons Saturday morning on Channel 6.

The "open circuit" experiment, designed to give the public a first-hand look at TV teaching, is part of a day-long workshop sponsored by the 200 teachers, trustees and education officials, some from Vancouver and as far away as Prince George, will take part.

Panel discussions and an afternoon closed-circuit TV demonstration will be held at Royal Oak High School. About 100 teachers, trustees and education officials, some from Vancouver and as far away as Prince George, will take part.

Viewers can tune in at 9:30 for a half-hour lesson on elementary science and social studies given by Mrs. S. Chatwell of Royal Oak Elementary School.

It will be followed by "Song of Joy," appreciation and singing lesson for intermediate elementary grades. Studio teacher will be Rod Webster, Mount Newton Junior High School and Ivor Parfitt, on the same staff, will serve as "receiving" classroom teacher.

A class of Beaver Lake Elementary School pupils will be used in the afternoon lesson on art for intermediate grades. The other lesson for teachers attending the workshop will deal with biology. The demonstration is provided by the B.C. Telephone Co. using equipment and technical experts from Channel 8, Vancouver.

Mrs. Clementine Smith cuts 100th-birthday cake, assisted by her son, Walter Smith of Gull Lake, Sask., and daughter, Mrs. Nellie Murdock, Ladysmith.—(Colonist photo.)

Take a Rest Live to 100

Slow down, ladies—you'll live longer.

That is the secret formula for long life unfolded by Mrs. Clementine Smith.

And Mrs. Smith should know of what she speaks. She celebrated her 100th birthday yesterday.

HER SECRET
Born May 31, 1861, in Laurencetown, County Kincardine, Scotland, the spry centenarian passed on these words to her younger sister on the secret of long life:

"After lunch put the dishes in the sink and take a nap. No stranger to hard work in farmer's wife long before the days of the push-button kitchen) Mrs. Smith's advice in a nutshell.

KNOW NOW
Work hard, but know how to replenish your strength with proper rest.

As a living testimonial to her theory, she was guest of honor yesterday at a gathering of the Smith clan at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. William Morris, 333 St. Andrew Avenue.

Among those present were two of her four children (two have died), Mrs. Nellie Murdock of Ladysmith and Walter Smith of Gull Lake, Sask., and his wife.

Also present: granddaughters, grandsons, great-grandsons—17 of the latter.

TELEGRAMS
On the program was a drive through the city, a birthday party and the reading of telegrams of congratulations from the Queen, Lieutenant Governor George Pearkes, Premier Bennett and a host of friends and well-wishers.

Mrs. Smith was raised in Ontario and married James T. Smith at Guelph in 1886. The couple lived for a number of years in Saskatchewan, then moved to Ladysmith in 1936.

DAILY WALKS
Her husband died in 1952. Until stricken with the flu two months ago, Mrs. Smith was as active as a young sprout of 70. She took daily walks, didn't bother with glasses for her daily perusal of the Bible.

DAILY QUOTA
She also scanned her daily newspaper, (the Colonist) front to back. Since her illness, the walks are out, but she still maintains her daily quota of reading.

Police Fought Over Bribes

TORONTO (CP)—Squabbles between members of the Ontario Provincial Police over the split of bribe money from gamblers were related in court Wednesday by an OPP constable who posed as a crooked cop on orders of his superiors.

Const. George Scott, consulting a detailed diary, went through his second day of Supreme Court testimony against a fellow officer and two other men charged with conspiring to bribe a policeman.

THREE NAMED

The accused are Robert Wright, 29, formerly of the OPP at Toronto and Belleville; Joseph McDermott, 40, of Port Credit, Ont., and Vincent Feeley, 37, of Toronto.

Const. Scott said Wright and two other OPP constables quarrelled over the division of spoils with McDermott trying to act as mediator.

MANY TIPOFFS

Wright told him he had made $50,000 in tipoffs on gambling raids; he (Scott) slipped many tipoffs to McDermott with his superiors' knowledge and one constable told him he was "looking after" three bookies but found them slow in paying.

He said there had been among Wright and two constables of the anti-gambling squad to which Scott is attached.

The two officers resigned shortly after Wright was arrested a year ago. No charges have been lodged against them.

One of them, he said, had complained Wright had no business getting paid off while at Belleville since he no longer was on the gambling squad.

Firms Would Expand

OTTAWA (CP)—Two of Canada's biggest electrical manufacturers said Wednesday they are prepared to move into new lines of production on the strength of the federal government's controversial "class or kind" tariff legislation.

This was disclosed by the Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, and Northern Electric Company, Limited, as the Senate banking committee began detailed examination of a provision in the bill granting the national revenue minister arbitrary powers in certain tariff decisions.

OPPOSITE VIEWS

The committee heard briefs by the Canadian Exporters Association opposing the legislation, and submissions by the Canadian Manufacturers Association and the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers Association supporting it.

J. H. Smith, president of Canadian General Electric, and F. G. Samis, marketing manager of Northern Electric, told the committee of production plans they hope will be realized if they will be able to receive immediate tariff protection under the "class or kind" legislation.

Break Up Mac-Powell Says Unionist

VANCOUVER (CP)—President Syd Thompson of the Vancouver local of International Woodworkers of America said Wednesday the huge MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Co. should be broken up or placed under public ownership. (See business column on Page 3.)

He said the firm now controls 42 per cent of the B.C. Coast lumber industry and "is throwing its weight around."

"The anti-labor attitude expressed by company chairman J. V. Clynne is menacing management-labor relations and setting the stage for serious trouble in B.C.'s largest industry," he said.

Mr. Thompson said life is being made unbearable for many company employees through speed-up of operations.

Rights Claim For Indian Thrown Out

VANCOUVER (CP)—A B.C. Supreme Court judge Wednesday rejected a contention that the new Canadian Bill of Rights overrules the Indian Act by guaranteeing equality to all Canadians.

Lawyer Tom Hurley was seeking dismissal of the conviction of a North Vancouver Indian on a charge of having liquor in his possession contrary to the act.

Canada's Drug Prices Highest in World?

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. A. F. Wilson Plumptre, president of the Canadian Association of Consumers, says the price of drugs in Canada is one of the highest, if not the highest, in the world.

She cited the 11-per-cent federal sales tax on drugs and laws that let foreign companies hold patents.

Pensions Favored

OTTAWA (CP)—Government legislation to give needy war veterans a raise of about 20 per cent in their monthly pensions won solid and rapid support in the Commons Wednesday.

The House approved without a dissenting voice the principle of a bill increasing the war veterans allowances—the so-called burned-out pensions. The increases will cost the federal treasury about $17,000,000 a year.

A Sad Day

MAY 31 WAS a day of regret and sadness for the older member nations of the Commonwealth as South Africa severed its 155-year-link with the British Crown and its family of independent countries. Even in the new republic itself the fateful day was greeted with a spirit of foreboding and helplessness by the vast majority of its people.

Traditionally such a day is one of joyful ceremony and proclamation, expressions of national pride and assurances of good will from fellow nations. Yet these trappings and acknowledgements of successful accomplishment were significantly absent in what should have been South Africa's greatest and most historic moment.

Little wonder it was thus. More than 90 per cent of the country's total population—including nearly half its white citizens and all of its Negroes and Asiatics—fought a lost battle to persuade the government to stay within the Commonwealth.

To them such membership meant hope—hope that family pressure could perhaps one day drive the vicious apartheid system out of existence to pave the way for the establishment of a truly democratic administration.

May 31 ended the hope. And those other Commonwealth nations which played no small part in speeding South Africa's departure must also assume their responsibility in the ending of it. It may yet be proven that their action was ill-advised and precipitate.

On a more personal basis many Commonwealth veterans of two world wars—Canadians among them—will remember the doughty men of South Africa who fought so valiantly beside them in Italy, France and Africa.

Neither our memories of them, nor of their great leader, Field Marshal Jan Smuts—one of the founders of the Commonwealth itself—must be allowed to dim nor their earlier contribution to world freedom forgotten.

Who Wins on Power?

PREMIER Bennett has said it makes sense to export B.C. hydro electric power to the United States, and is reported to be making that a condition of the province's acceptance of the Columbia Treaty.

British Columbia has two main sources of undeveloped power—the Columbia River and the Peace River.

Power from the Peace cannot be sold for export because its estimated cost is too expensive for U.S. consumers. This leaves only the low-cost power of the Columbia which B.C. can profitably sell abroad.

If the low-cost Columbia power is exported then the more expensive Peace power will be left for British Columbians to use—a thought that is causing concern to many people in the province.

It must be questioned at this stage if the revenue from the sale of power to the United States would justify this step, for the government has not yet detailed what it would do with the money.

It could be used to foster such government projects as the PGE, the ferries, the roads and bridges, or the health and welfare services, but we do not know.

It could also be used to reduce the price of electricity for B.C. consumers down to the level they would have had to pay if they had used Columbia River power in the first place.

If the latter is the case, then the U.S. money would end up as a subsidy to the foreign-controlled Peace River Development Company so that they could make a profit from a product which they could not sell on the open market.

Mr. Bennett knows that power export is the only way in which both the Peace and the Columbia can be developed at the same time, but it seems a high price to pay, however laudable the project of opening the northland in the fastest possible time may appear to our solons.

A Vital Discovery

AN ANNOUNCEMENT has come from Washington which if later borne out in substance and in fact far transcends all the spunkies now whirling in space. If at last a cure is in the offing that will arrest the scourge of cancer this marks an achievement against which space science is as nothing.

With an imprimatur that affords its own assurance the U.S. surgeon-general has discovered that after long experiment one drug at least has been found which has successfully cured or stayed the inroads of this dread disease. The prospect of hope which this invites is thus manifold and perhaps immense.

Yet sufferers the world over and those who live in dread of the incidence of cancer must note the specific nature of the announcement. The U.S. government believes it has found a chemical which eliminates or arrests one form of cancer. It does not claim that this one drug will banish the scourge that currently is such a bane to mankind.

What the discovery does do however is indicate that medical science has made an important breakthrough likely to lead to the development of complementary drugs to combat other forms of cancer.

This is the main assurance to be derived from the U.S. surgeon-general's announcement, which presumably would not have been made except on the basis of confidence. There is the promise that cancer may yet be conquered, if not entirely then brought under control to a degree that would bring immense humanitarian relief. And that would be the most important achievement of our time.

Sensible Conclusion

PUBLIC works committee of city council has come to a sensible conclusion in advocating that the plan to extend Blanshard Street as a new highway entrance be retained, and the alternative suggested by Alderman Austin Curtis—further development of Quadra Street—be rejected.

Mr. James Garnett, the city engineer, has presented strong arguments in favor of the Blanshard extension, arguments that were overlooked in Alderman Curtis' proposal, and it is to be hoped that city council as a whole will now accept the works committee's recommendation.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax..."

By TOM TAYLOR

I THINK it was the New Party people who said recently that if ever they formed the federal government two things would be initiated by them—a national anthem and a national flag.

They are more bold than prudent, thus to speak out loudly so far in advance. It could crimp whatever chances they have.

Not apropos the anthem, perhaps, which is in a fair way of settlement by usage. This question could easily be reconciled by reserving "The Queen" as a royal anthem—it is abused by too irrelevant playing, anyway—and citing "O Canada" as the national anthem.

Except possibly in Ontario the latter has gained universal favor and has become symbolic of Canada at home and abroad.

A new flag however is one of those ticklish political problems which sends governments to cover. Old loyalties die hard. Any suggestion of tampering with tradition rouses a storm.

In its way this is what keeps democracy on an even keel. It is well for society that there should be reforms, new notions and changing concepts. It is well too that change should be resisted else affairs would run the risk of being in a constant flux.

It is gradualism that holds the balance and ensures that when change is effected it is well founded.

Some idea of what the New Party would be in for if in fact it ever gained office and carried out its promises, is reflected these days in the Canadian Legion's experience with its new badge. The sound and fury that has followed the adoption of a different design has been like a battle charge.

The veterans are not old warriors for nothing.

There was an item in the Colonist this week reporting the echoes of the Alberta command convention. There the new badge was condemned as representing the "Legion of the Lost" or "any damned legion."

It was a case of thumbs down, and the Alberta command won't wear it.

Neither will a host of other Legion veterans across the country. I gather from reading the last few numbers of the official journal The Legionary. In its pages the battle has raged for some months, with the majority of letter-writers against the change of design.

The chief arguments are interesting, particularly so I imagine to politicians. One strong point of protest is elimination of the Union Jack from the badge, although in this connection it might be mentioned that neither the Crown nor the Union Jack finds a place on the badge of the British Legion.

Another objection is the dropping of the word "Canadian," thus leaving the word "Legion" in splendid but perhaps ambiguous isolation. Nor has the substitution of the caption "British Empire Service League" by a Latin motto, the classical foreign touch favored by English-speaking peoples on sheepskins and restaurant menus, won many friends.

Supporters of the new design there are plenty, but they are outnumbered by those who deplore this change of "time-honored traditions."

Personally the new badge looks good to the eyes of yours truly, but he has no warrant for voice on the subject since he is not a Legion member. The foregoing is merely an objective illustration of the ticklish nature of proposals which touch the deep chord of sentiment and seem to encroach on hard-won loyalties.

How the Legion's dominion command hopes to reconcile its badge problem I have no idea, but the future shows what any Canadian government is up against on the national flag question.

Some day, I suppose, there will be a distinctly Canadian flag but not readily. Gradualism will have to take its course. And without doubt the legionnaires will be in the thick of this fight too.

With the Classics

There is a pleasure in the pathless woods,
There is a rapture on the lonely shore,
There is a society where none intrudes,
By the deep sea, and music in its roar:
I love not man the less, but nature more,
From these our interviews, in which I steal
From all I may be, or have been before,
To mingle with the universe, and feel
What I can ne'er express, yet cannot all conceal.
—Lord Byron.

Washington Calling

No One Expects Much

By MARQUE CHILDS from Paris

THERE is at least one fortunate aspect of the talks in which President Kennedy is engaging. No one—certainly not on this side of the Atlantic—expects very much to come out of them.

They are the kind of venture in personal diplomacy in which the president's predecessor, Dwight Eisenhower, invested so much of his great reputation as the hero of the last war to no little avail. They come at a time that must seem awkward and ill-chosen for both the United States and France.

Cuba, Laos and the rioting in Alabama as it is spread in big headlines across the European press all seem to put the president at a disadvantage. His recent message to Congress was a brave one in resolution and determination. But that is for the future and for Congress to act or not to act while he is still struggling in a sea of troubles.

As for President de Gaulle, he is in the midst of a dangerous and difficult transition. Trying to negotiate a peace in Algeria he must be acutely aware that hardly a month ago a military putch in Algiers collapsed only after his Premier Michel Debre had gone on the radio to appeal to the people of Paris to go to the airports to resist the invading paratroopers.

That military rebellion had widespread repercussions within France itself. The feeling is general throughout Europe that the threat of an uprising in Algeria, engineered by the military and the French planners, is far from ended. They will stop at nothing to try to force a break in the Algerian peace talks that are in the first tentative preliminary phase at Evian near the Swiss border.

With the collapse of the putch de Gaulle scored another personal triumph as he stood like a solid rock in the wave of hysteria that swept the country. But doubts of the stability of France itself, even under his leadership, still persist.

These two dissimilar men are certain in the current talks to come up against a major obstacle that has a direct bearing on the exchange that Kennedy will have with Premier Khrushchev. That is the nuclear testing—four explosions in the Sahara testing area thus far—France is conducting in the determination to achieve an independent nuclear deterrent.

Kennedy would not presume to try to dissuade de Gaulle from this course, particularly since the United States has refused to share nuclear knowledge with the French. But he must surely convey to the French president a sense of how serious is this obstacle to any understanding with the Soviets on a nuclear test-ban agreement.

Leaving out all the other obstacles, and they are many, the Soviets can always return to the charge, as Khrushchev is most likely to do in Vienna, that France is going on with nuclear testing and that testing must be encouraged by the NATO allies for their common benefit.

To the West, concerned over the spread of nuclear weapons to fourth, fifth and sixth powers in the years just ahead, this must seem like a pure propaganda gambit brought up merely for the purpose of stalling any agreement. Yet, Soviet experts with whom this reporter has talked in three European capitals believe there is a considerable real conviction behind the Soviet charge. Imagine, they say, if the shoe were on the other foot and Red China or Czechoslovakia were conducting nuclear tests. It would be very hard to convince anyone in the United States that this was not being done with the encouragement and help of Moscow.

Between de Gaulle and Khrushchev the president will feel the impact of the immovable object or, at any rate, the force that is convinced of its irresistiibility. It is an unenviable position in which the leverage of any possible mediation will be small indeed.

Because he is in the middle of a dangerous transition with the imperative need to try to hold the ultra right in line is all the more reason that de Gaulle cannot yield. His problem in unstable France is to stand immovable above the battle in the conviction that he can bring it off and that France, before he puts down the burden of one-man rule, will come into a safe and sure harbor.

This problem of opinion at home has some resemblance to President Kennedy's own situation, with the frustration created by a series of setbacks. But while the auguries are not good most Europeans will respect and be sympathetic with the president's deep feeling that the time is too grave to stop short of anything that offers, however small, a hope.

Touch of Reverence

A White Peas Soup

By CASSANDRA

I WAS very pleased to see the Nutrition Society has been discussing soup and at their meeting Mr. Thomas McLachlan has been considering whether the delicious steaming bowls of the stuff should be regarded as an appetizer or a food. Mr. McLachlan very sensibly comes to the conclusion that soup is both.

"In times of flood, famine, strikes or explosions in mines," says Mr. McLachlan, "it is the custom to supply hot soup as an emergency ration."

While agreeing that there is nothing like an enormous bang or the whole of the Port of London held up by some driving quarrel to send me hurrying for a quart of minestrone, I also take soup in times of drought, when bumper harvests are being gathered in when the working population is toiling mightily and in non-explosive moments.

I have just been reading 'The Art of Cookery Made Plain and Easy' which far exceeds any 'Thing of the Kind' ever yet published" by Mrs. Glasse, who wrote this important work in 1743.

Mrs. Glasse is very good on soup, or as she spells it, "Soop."

She has a fine style and a commanding pen.

There is authority about her and just the touch of reverence that we soomans always feel.

Listen to her giving orders on the making of "A White Peas Soop."

"Take about three pounds of thick Flank of Beef, or any lean Part of the Leg chopped to Pieces; set it on the Fire in three Gallons of water, about Half a Pound of bacon, a small Bundle of Sweet Herbs, a good deal of dried Mint; take a bunch of Sellery, wash it very clean, put in the green Tops, and Quart of Split Peas, cover it close and let it boil till two parts is wasted."

Mrs. Glasse, warming to her noble theme, then hurls in lean bacon, dried bread, salt, force-meat, spinach and "an Ox's Palate stewed tender and cut small."

Says Mrs. Glasse with splendid simplicity: "It will be good."

Marvellous Race

The art of frisking by the coppers is an interesting one.

I was recently repeatedly searched by the Israeli police at the Eichmann trial in Jerusalem who were properly concerned that fumes of mercury which goes off with a nasty whump should not be taken into the courtroom in the cap of a fountain pen.

One of my colleagues who suffers from asthma took his ephedrine spray in with him and several phials. The confusion and near-panic was much enjoyed by all.

The searcher-confounded is always a pleasing spectacle, and when a youth was pinched for stealing in Oxford on Wednesday and was duly searched, the police found in his trouser pocket a 2½ ft. snake.

After being remanded in custody he rightly protested and demanded: "What is going to happen to my snake?"

The constabulary, ever-resourceful, replied that no mammal, reptile, insect, bird or fish is allowed to take up a fixed abode in any of Her Majesty's Prisons.

So the snake in true, solemn British style was duly remanded in a suitably exclusive, temporary custody and heavily dined with state-supplied maggots.

Who says we aren't a marvellous race?

Hospitable South

Amid the brutality and the terrorism of Alabama against Negroes I particularly treasure an advertisement in an American magazine issued by the Publicity Bureau of the state capital of Montgomery.

It concludes with a cordial message that "State Governor Patterson assures you a hospitable old South welcome when you come."

Tell it to the Bay, Martin Luther King.

There were days when visiting statesmen going to neighboring countries were occasions for flags, flowers and festivities.

When President de Gaulle visited Bonn, every hospital in and around that Rhine-land city was stocked with French blood of the President's particular group in case of attempted assassination.

Trade Views Needed

Time Running Short

By DUANE FARQUHARSON from London

WHILE the British government goes over the Treaty of Rome with a fine tooth comb to see what clauses it can and cannot accept in making its forthcoming bid to join the Common Market Six Canadian observers here are caught up in desperate controversy.

The question—what attitude Canada should take towards an Anglo-European marriage—is not new. The argument has been between the "optimists" who emphasize the long-run opportunity for Canada provided by an ever more prosperous Europe with a liberal outlook, and the "pessimists" who see only the immediate threat to our traditional trade patterns.

Urgency has lately been added to the argument by the widespread feeling that Britain is poised ready to jump this summer into Europe. The sense of desperation comes from the growing fear of many observers that the essentially negative attitude of the Canadian government during the past year if continued will neither safeguard our interests nor turn challenge into opportunity.

Trade experts here do not blame a government, hard-pressed at home by trade, unemployment and financial difficulties, for worrying about the short-term dislocation inherent in an Anglo-Six get-together. But if it was politically inevitable that Ottawa should side with the "pessimists" the method of approach nevertheless remains a subject of legitimate and lively controversy.

That method, since Mr. Fleming attended the Commonwealth finance ministers meeting here last September, has been to speak loud, but not specifically. We have told the British: "Go ahead into Europe if you want. But know that we shall be very unhappy if the results are detrimental to Canada, which they are bound to be."

We have been content with the British government's promise, made at the September meeting, to keep the Commonwealth informed about the direction of its European thinking. Together with other Commonwealth nations we have refused to provide position papers stating our legitimate requirements in the event of a European settlement. Rather, we have said, "when you show us your specific proposals about how it might be done we shall make our comments."

For at least one Canadian diplomatic observer at the highest level here this approach causes no worry. He feels secure in the belief that Prime Minister Macmillan, being an advocate of the widest possible Atlantic unity, is incapable of agreeing to an Anglo-Six arrangement that would be injurious to Canada. Britain will not join the Common Market, he says, so stop fretting.

The other majority, if not necessarily senior, opinion puts less faith in Mr. Macmillan's long-term wishes as a safeguard for Canada's commercial future. There are many ways to work toward Atlantic unity, and one of them, as President Kennedy has recognized, is for Britain to join the Six. All the evidence of the past year indicates that the British government is reaching the same conclusion.

If Britain then is ready to take the big step it is not time to reconsider the Canadian position? Mr. Fleming's September approach of vague general threats of retaliation may have been a valid means of setting up a bargaining counter at that time. But the effect on British policy in date has been negligible. Is it not now time to acknowledge the apparently inevitable trend and concentrate Canadian energy on hammering home to the British the specific points we consider essential to a settlement?

Ottawa may have already reached such a conclusion. But if so it is not known here on the eve of the spring meeting of Commonwealth officials.

Time, it is feared by many here, is running short. Unless we produce some positive position papers the danger is that the British will continue to "consult," that is inform us, that they will be able to argue that we didn't accept their invitation to put forward specific objections, and that we shall be presented with a fait accompli too late to change.

Fun, Fact And Fiction

A young boy was attempting to push a heavily laden cart up a steep hill when a stranger offered to help him. "I think it's an outrage to give a little boy like you a job as big as this," he said. "Why didn't you tell your boss this load was far too heavy for you?"

"That's what I did."

"And what did the big and-so say?"

"Well," the lad replied, "the boss said, 'Get on with it, son, and you'll find some fool who will give you a hand.'"

In the St. Lawrence effect of the tide is felt as far upriver as Trois Rivières, more than 700 miles from the ocean.

"Integrity and wisdom are essential to success in every business," said the boss to a new employee. "By integrity I mean that when you promise a customer something, we must keep that promise even if we lose money."

"And what is wisdom?" asked the new man.

"Don't make fool promises."

Torrent of Criticism Greet New Republic

East, West United In Groans

PRETORIA (Reuters)—South Africa became a republic Wednesday to a chorus of catcalls from around the world.

Sworn in as the first president was Charles Swart, a one-time newspaper man and Hollywood bit player who replaces the Queen as the nation's head of state.

OATH TAKEN

The 66-year-old lawyer, who is a former member of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's cabinet, took the oath of office a few hours after South Africa officially became a republic at midnight and left the Commonwealth.

The ceremony was conducted in the Groot Kerk church as heavily-armed security police carried out a house-to-house check in Negro areas as a precaution against any anti-government demonstrations.

LOUD GROAN

Swart drove to the church along a route lined six deep in places with cheering South Africans. But as guns boomed here for the republic, a loud groan went up from commentators of both East and West.

In New Delhi, the Independent Indian Express said it was "a day of mourning all over the world wherever human rights are cherished."

In Australia, the Sydney Morning Herald said "the bells tolling the end of South Africa's association with the Commonwealth were sounding a tocsin rather than a peal of joy."

Moscow Radio, in its English-language service, said all the signs in South Africa indicated "the racialists are planning another bloodbath for the people."

FROM DEFENBAKER

Message of goodwill to the new republic were virtually drowned out by the torrent of criticism.

One congratulatory message came from Canadian Prime Minister Diefenbaker, whose outspoken opposition to the nation's racial policies was reported to have been a factor in South Africa's decision to leave the Commonwealth.

In a message to the country, Sir de Villiers Graaff, leader of the opposition United Party, said Wednesday will be a sorry day for some people "because of the severance of the link with the monarchy."

ACCRA, Ghana (Reuters)—The government announced today it would not recognize the republic of South Africa. The United Arab Republic took a similar step Tuesday.

Fewer Fires Bigger Loss

OTTAWA (CP)—A total of 322 forest fires destroyed 10,800 acres in Canada's forests during April, the first month of the forest fire season. The federal forestry department said yesterday that in the same month last year, 410 fires burned out 8,000 acres.

Letters to the Editor

Thetis Lake

I am convinced that the vast majority of visitors would say that the magnificent natural state of Thetis Lake park should be left as it is.

It would be nothing short of a crime to "modernize" this wonderland. There can be little or no doubt that the lifetime experience of parks superintendent Mr. Warren, in way-ahead of the entire committee, and his views and recommendations should be completely acknowledged and respected.

Boorish

I agree with your correspondent, Ron Vallant, who takes exception to the boorish attitude of most employers who advertise positions.

Those who skulk behind the box number when advertising for an employee often cause considerable anxiety to someone who is desperate for work when they do not have the courtesy to send an acknowledgement. I have wasted many hours obtaining references and data without the slightest response. I have wasted more time attending "lectures" and "sales seminars" which were no more than come-ons for a fly-by-night roofing firm, vacuum cleaner gyp, or a like commission-only proposition.

One evening I hopefully attended a meeting which was advertised as being held for the purpose of selecting several "driver-salesmen." I was directed to bring my wife. On arrival at the hall, I found myself in the company of about one hundred other hopefuls, all of whom spent nearly an hour filling out a "qualifying test." Then every one, with only a few exceptions, was sent home to be contacted later, with no hint of the type of work, or the company involved. I was furious, of course, and became even more angry when no further contact was made.

It is a pity that hopeful applicants have no redress to a box number.

Boiling Egypt Battles Black Market in Ice

CAIRO (AP)—Egyptian officials declared war yesterday on black marketers in ice as the temperature climbed to 111 degrees, one of the worst heat waves Cairo has ever experienced. Ice almost disappeared from the market as black marketers raised the price. A state of emergency was declared.

Eichmann 'Mutiny'

Hitler's Order Firmly Opposed

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Adolf Eichmann opposed a personal decision by Adolf Hitler to save 41,000 Budapest Jews from the gas chambers in 1944 and planned to sabotage the attempt if necessary, the court trying the former Nazi official for mass murder heard yesterday.

Eichmann's "mutiny" against a ruling by Hitler was disclosed in an official telegram from Dr. Edmund Veesenmayer, Nazi ambassador to Budapest, dated July 25, 1944. The telegram was submitted to the court by the Israeli prosecution as one of the most incriminating among more than 1,800 prosecution documents.

It reported that Eichmann was absolutely opposed to a decision by Hitler to let 41,000 Hungarian Jews, including 1,000 children, emigrate with Swiss help to Palestine if the Hungarian government allowed the remaining 250,000 Budapest Jews to be deported to Auschwitz.

Veesenmayer's telegram reported to German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop from Eichmann had told him that, so far as he knew, Nazi police chief Heinrich Himmler "was not in the least in agreement with the emigration of Hungarian Jews to Palestine."

He quoted Eichmann as saying the 41,000 Jews were all "biologically valuable material, including many long-time Zionists" and that their emigration to Palestine was "extremely undesirable."

Veesenmayer said Eichmann planned to appeal directly to Himmler to get Hitler to reconsider the decision.

He said Eichmann also planned to carry out any further deportations to the gas chambers "as far as possible by swift, lightning-like action," so that the Jews would be grabbed before emigration formalities were completed.

Junta to Seek Public Advice

SEOUL (UPI)—South Korea's military junta government said yesterday it will take a Gallup-type poll this week to determine how to run the country.

VOTES SOUGHT

The junta said it would send college students out today, Friday and Saturday to quiz about 1,500 voters chosen in Seoul at random on 24 basic questions as means of determining what line to take in governing the country.

IDEAS ASKED

Among the matters to be covered by the poll were the harsh penalties the revolutionary regime has meted out to "hoodlums" and its punishment of 45 persons convicted of "dancing illegally" in violation of a junta decree.

The pollsters also will ask the persons they interview what form the next legislature should take, how many members it should have.

War Loss Listed By Vietnamese

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (Reuters)—The South Viet Nam army has lost 22 dead, 26 missing and 27 badly wounded in five clashes with Communist guerrillas during the last 10 days, authoritative defence sources said Wednesday. The sources claimed guerrilla losses in the clashes were 108 dead and "hundreds" wounded.

Negroes 'Sit' in Bid for Model Homes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Negroes are applying to a San Francisco real estate development of $32,000 homes their sit-in technique of protesting segregation.

"Our people have been locked out when they attempt to look at the Forest Knolls model home," said Terry Franco, chapter president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people.

But the lockout keeps potential white home buyers away, too.

"So we'll have somebody here every working hour," Brown said the salesman refused to talk about selling a house and left the model home in support of Willie Brown, 27, area.

Strike Offer Beaten

CLOVERDALE (CP)—Surrey municipal employees Wednesday voted 138 to 85 against accepting a new wage offer and will continue their strike, now in its seventh day.

The offer was for a five-cent-an-hour wage increase retroactive to Jan. 1 and an additional one-cent increase July 1. Present basic rate is $1.73.

The employees are demanding the full seven-cent-an-hour increase recommended by a conciliation board which earlier investigated the dispute.

TV, Radio Sales Down

OTTAWA (UPI)—Producers sold fewer television sets, radios and record players in the first quarter of this year than in 1960, the bureau of statistics says. TV set sales fell to 71,772 units from 81,651.

Beat This One

This 31-pounder from Sheringham Point waters is the spring salmon to beat in the Colonist King Fisherman contest so far. It was caught at the weekend by Norman Curran, 1025 Tolmie, who had given up hope of catching a salmon and had turned to bass fishing close to shore.

Owners View Subsidy

Few Benefits For Shipyards

OTTAWA (UPI)—The Canadian Shipowners' Association said Wednesday the federal government's new shipping and shipbuilding policy will not bring Canadian ships back to the world's trade routes.

The association, representing owners of ocean-going ships, said its members will be unable to take advantage of the government's shipbuilding subsidy "because the high cost of operating on Canadian registry makes it impossible to compete in international routes."

"This means," the association said, "that Canadian shipyards will benefit only to the extent of the demand for new lake ships and fishing vessels, which is strictly limited."

"The real gain to the Canadian economy," said the shipowners, "would have been greater if the government's subvention had been used to reduce the cost of operating

Change in Name Only

OTTAWA (UPI)—The South African and Canadian high commissioners became ambassadors Wednesday with South Africa's departure from the Commonwealth.

Change in status of the missions is the only one in relations between Canada and South Africa as a result of the latter becoming a republic.

Train Hired To Speed Late Guests

LONDON—Sir Peter Roberts knows how to get late-staying guests home from a party—he hires a special train.

"It worked out perfectly," said Sir Peter, a member of Parliament. "I would do it again and I may have to."

To get the train moving and his guests back to London from his home in County Norfolk, Sir Peter paid overtime to an engineer, fireman, conductor and brakeman.

VIENNA — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in the Czechoslovakian city of Bratislava and said "the Soviet voice, as always, will be that of peace" when he meets President Kennedy here Saturday.

NEW YORK — Dr. John Browe of the New York health department has lived on a diet of crackers and water for two weeks, and survived. Dr. Browe developed the crackers as rations for fallout shelters.

BELMONT, Mass. — Heart specialist Dr. Paul Dudley White was "very gratified" on his election to the Soviet Academy of Science but said he felt the honor was more a recognition of American cardiology.

NEW YORK — Sixteen-year-old Jose Burgos confessed he killed a 76-year-old man because the victim laughed at him when threatened with robbery, police said.

DALLAS, Tex. — John G. Tower, first Republican senator sent to Washington by Texas since reconstruction days following the Civil War, said the time is near when the United States must invade Cuba.

VANCOUVER — Men talk more than women — at least, Englishmen do — London elocutionist Greta Douglas said here. "You only have to ride a suburban train into London to know that," she said.

REGINA — Rev. Armand Stado said in his presidential report to the Saskatchewan conference of the United Church of Canada that the average churchman today is a "semi-pagan."

TAKAMATSU, Japan — Minoru Miyake, skipper of a boat involved in a collision that took the lives of 166 school children six years ago, has received a suspended sentence for negligence.

BOSTON — Millionaire industrialist Bernard Goldfine filed a motion in federal court seeking to withdraw his guilty plea on charges he evaded $790,000 in income taxes.

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. — Nicholas Orloff, 66, former chief interpreter for the United Nations who translated Soviet Premier Khrushchev's salty comments, died of a heart attack.

MONTREAL — Fernando Laine, foreign trade director of Portugal's National Wine Board, began an 8,000-mile, 45-day Canadian tour to boost Canadian interest in Portuguese wines, canned fish, fruits and coffee.

TORONTO — Most Rev. George Bernard Flahiff was consecrated Roman Catholic Archbishop of Winnipeg in a ceremony at St. Michael's Cathedral here.

LONDON — Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, ending his 16-year tenure as Archbishop of Canterbury, said he will not write his memoirs. "Roughly speaking, my memoirs would be gossip and one of the evils of the world is gossip, private and public," he said.

CHICAGO — Motorists who thought homebound Memorial Day traffic moved "at a snail's pace" were wrong, a Chicago scientist says. Ernest Roscoe said the swiftest snail he has ever clocked moved at .00758 miles per hour, or about 20 inches a minute.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Irish playwright Brendan Behan, well known for his troubles with the police and alcohol on two continents, was arrested in a Hollywood restaurant for being drunk and disturbing the peace.

LONDON — David Ormsby-Gore, 43, a longtime friend of President Kennedy and Britain's chief spokesman on disarmament, has been appointed British Ambassador to the United States.

EDMONTON — Premier Manning of Alberta said he is giving his wholehearted support to Robert Thompson, Social Credit party national president, in the latter's bid for the national party leadership.

Gorge Vale Trims Victoria Favored to Retain Trophy

It's evident after only two of the six matches that defending-champion Gorge Vale is the team to beat in the Inter-Club Golf League.

Fresh from its 6-3 win over Uplands in the opening match last week, the powerful Gorge team last night trimmed the Victoria Golf Club sextet, 8-1, to move far ahead in the scrap for the prized Willie Park driver, which is the trophy for the winning club.

At Colwood, Uplands came up with a small surprise by defeating their hosts, 6-3, in a match which featured some tense finishes. No less than seven of the nine separate matches were decided by a 1 up margin and another by a 2 and 1 score.

Still smarting from the 9-0 blanketing handed out at Gorge Vale last year, the Victoria team last night made it 15-1 all but sure with a birdie on 15 which left Painter dormant three.

Painter, however, struck a blow for his side when he holed a 12-foot birdie putt on 17 which was the winning stroke in the four-ball setting up a 2 and 1 win for him and partner Norm Boden.

REPEAT WIN

Boden, the crew-cut youngster who holds the Island match play championship, repeated his victory in the final of that event by beating veteran George Bigelow, 4 and 3. Boden, one under par when the match ended, was two up at the turn, won the 11th and 12th to go four up, ended it with a birdie on the 15th for a half.

It was strictly no contest in the other two matches. Art Donaldson returned to top form and eased by Bill McCall, 4 and 3, while partner Dave Fanthorpe, catching opponent Roy Chappell, when he had a bout of hooking, was a 5 and 3 winner.

MADE IT 'SWEEP

Donaldson, three under par from the sixth hole, and Fanthorpe made it a sweep with a 5 and 4 win in the four-ball.

Victoria - left-handers Cliff Horwood and Al Manson just couldn't match the kind of golf thrown at them by the John Merriman-Bill Wakeham pairing. Both Gorge players were even with par when their matches ended and their best ball for the four-ball was five under par.

NOT PUTTER

The Frank Scroggs - Joe Briggs pairing proved the difference in the Uplands at Colwood match. Scroggs beat Vic Painter, 1 up; while Briggs took pro Bill Court, 2 and 1, when a hot putter gave him a two-up lead for the turn. The Uplands duo won the four-ball 1 up, for three points.

Colwood took the lead in the first pairings despite the fact that ace Laurie Kerr was beaten by Gordie Fellow. George Andrews took Claude Haggie, 6 and 5, and the Colwood pair sneaked by in the four-ball, 1 up.

EVEN CLOSER

It was even closer in the second match. Uplands' Ken Lawson took Roger Ross, 1 up, but partner Fred Ranson lost by the same score to Don Ross. Ranson, however, helped win the four-ball for his side, also by 1 up, when he rallied to almost halve his singles.

Dormie three, Ranson won the 18th and 17 and Don Ross had to sink a long putt on 18 for a half which saved the match.

UPLANDS AT COLWOOD

Gordie Fellow defeated Laurie Kerr, 1 up; Claude Haggie lost to George Andrews, 4 and 3; Kerr and Johnson won four-ball, 1 up.

Ken Lawson defeated Roger Ross, 1 up; Fred Ranson lost to Don Ross, 1 down; Ross and Ranson won four-ball, 1 up.

Frank Scroggs defeated Vic Painter, 1 up; Joe Briggs defeated Bill Court, 2 and 1; Scroggs and Briggs won four-ball, 1 up.

CLIFF HARRISON

Cliff Harrison lost to Bill Wakeham, 4 and 3; Al Manson lost to John Merriman, 4 and 3; Wakeham and Merriman won four-ball, 3 and 4.

George Briggs lost to Norm Boden, 4 and 3; Laurie Carroll defeated Paul Lands, 1 and 2; Boden and Painter won four-ball, 3 and 1.

IRONICALLY, the huge expenditures by the American hunter and fisherman stems to a considerable degree from the fact he has to range far and wide for his hunting and fishing—because little provision was made for the preservation of wildlife resources when the United States was building the industrial empire which made it possible for its workers to afford to seek out the recreation which was destroyed.

This must not happen here. We have already destroyed too much foolishly but fortunately there is still enough left if it is husbanded and wisely used. Pointing out its dollars and cents value is necessary to help save what we have by showing that it is actually a valuable resource but the biggest value of our unspoiled outdoors is that it makes our country a fine place for its citizens.

It may be a sign of growth to see our wilderness areas destroyed but it isn't necessarily any sign of advancement.

New York Yankees finally seem to have Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris hitting together but it's the Cincinnati Reds who are currently stealing the show in the major baseball leagues.

Fred Hutchinson's Reds are a scrappy outfit, but they have scrambled their way to the top of the National League with the hottest streak of the season—a four-week period which has produced 21 wins in 27 games.

The 21st win came last night, and while the Reds didn't produce too much in the way of pitching, they got hitting to put them ahead and some spectacular ninth-inning fielding to keep them ahead—8-7 over the Dodgers at Los Angeles.

Two home runs by Gene Freese and one by Gordie Coleman kept the Reds in the game, leaving them with an 8-6 lead for the ninth inning.

LOADED BATTERS

There, the Dodgers threatened again by getting the bases loaded with no one out. Jim Brosnan came in to pitch, and his infield got almost out of trouble by doubling the swift Tommy Davis as one run scored. Coleman then got the last out with a sensational leaping catch at first base on a liner by Ron Fairly.

Joey Jay, who lost his first three decisions, received credit for his sixth straight win.

San Francisco Giants managed to stay even with the Reds by squeezing out a 3-2 win over the St. Louis Cardinals. The tiebreaking run came in the ninth with two out and the bases loaded when Joe Amalfitano topped the ball and beat out the dribbler for a base hit.

SPAWN SNAKED

Pittsburgh Pirates broke a five-game losing streak, smashing Warren Spahn as they trimmed Milwaukee Braves, 9-1, with a barrage of doubles.

In the other National League game, winless Robin Roberts lost his seventh straight as Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4.

Now only one game out on the losing side, the Yankees moved closer to the tottering Detroit Tigers in the American League as both Mantle and Maris hit their third home runs in two games.

BIG DIFFERENCE

Mantle's was his 14th of the season and Maris, who has come out of nowhere in the past two weeks, now has 12 home runs. Their hitting was again the difference as the Yankees barely made a 7-1 lead stand up for a 7-6 win over Boston Red Sox.

Joe Pignatano, a light-hitting ex-Dodger catcher who was batting .334 when the game started, batted in three runs with a homer and four singles as the Kansas City Athletics bested the Tigers, 6-4, and handed Frank Lary his third loss in 10 decisions.

Chicago White Sox, held to only one run in 24 innings, broke loose to check the Baltimore Orioles, 5-4, with a 10-hit attack which included home runs by Jim Landis and Al Smith.

Power-Play Battle Won by Nanaimo; Rematch Saturday

By JIM TAYLOR

Victoria lost a battle of power plays at Memorial Arena last night, bowing 15-14 in overtime to Nanaimo in an Inter-City Lacrosse League game they just about had to win.

Nanaimo, led by Don Ashbee and Lisle Scott, scored seven of their last nine goals on their power play and got the other two while short-handed themselves. As a result they are a fast five points ahead in the battle, if it can be called that now, for third place. And they face Victoria again Saturday, playing on their home floor and strengthened by the addition of Jack Blonds.

The return of Al Gill and a fine effort on the power play by Ron Jay made a world of difference in the Victoria team. But some inconsistent refereeing and a tendency to take stupid penalties at crucial times finally beat Arnie Ferguson's club.

But before they lost Victoria treated a crowd of 2,000 to some of the finest lacrosse seen here in many a game. It topped even the last Nanaimo appearance here, which ended in a 12-12 overtime tie.

WHISTLING DRIVE

Behind 12-11 with the game apparently over, they forced the overtime on a whistling drive by Jim McNeill with just three seconds remaining.

Don Morelli made it 13-12 for Nanaimo on the power play, and Tom McVie broke Victoria at 5:25, breaking loose to take a pass from Larry Clarkson to score with teammate Don Ashbee in the penalty box.

Jay got that one back before Ashbee returned, but McNeill took a rather dubious tripping penalty and Scott scored his fourth of the night. Another penalty to Ashbee, plus a 10-minute misconduct for foul language, gave Vics the odd man again, but Al Davies' goal came at 9:45 and there wasn't time in the 10-minute period to do any more.

Jay scored five goals, all on the power play, to pace Vics, who concentrated on two lines to build up their scoring power. It worked well enough to give them an 8-6 lead at half time, and a revamped power play also showed to better advantage with a total of seven goals to its credit.

DREW BLOOD

Vics got their half-time lead when Al Fearon took a major penalty for drawing blood while slashing Tom Collett at 8:38 of the second quarter. Victoria scored twice on the odd man, but lost Collett for the rest of the game. He was treated for a 10-stitch cut across the forehead.

It didn't last long. With Scott in the penalty box, Val Robertson eluded some criminally weak checking to get by three men and set up Arnie Dugan to score. Then Jack May took a penalty and Scott tied it up. It was 10-10 going into the last quarter. Jay scored at 2:25 and Scott took a penalty, but Vics lost a chance to take command when Jack May and Tommy Bruce took penalties in rapid order. Scott and Ashbee had scored before they got back, giving Nanaimo the lead and setting the stage for McNeill's tying goal.

Single Lapse Costs Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In the rarefied atmosphere of world-class chess, where genius is commonplace and where mental agility and stamina meet their severest test, a scholarly Soviet electrical engineer has performed an unprecedented feat.

Mikhail Botvinnik, who prepares so carefully for major competition that he once had a friend blow cigarette smoke in his face while practising for a tournament against several heavy smokers, won over his youthful opponent in 21 games in Moscow.

In all, he won 10, lost five and drew six with Mikhail Tal, who wrested the title from him a year earlier with a pyrotechnic display of unorthodox chess strategy. The number of decisions was high for a world championship in which draws usually predominate. A year ago Tal won six, lost two and there were 13 draws.

"This is a truly amazing performance for a man of nearly 50," said C. H. Alexander, former British champion, writing in the Sunday Times.

"A world championship match, the best of 24 games in a series of five-hour sessions over a period of eight weeks and requiring constant unremitting concentration—a single lapse of attention will cost a game—is one of the most severe tests of nervous stamina to which one can be submitted."

Chess Master at 16

Much is made of the age of the champion who has been winning chess honors since he was 14 and who became a master at 16.

Botvinnik first won the world championship in 1948 in a tournament to name a successor to the late Alexander Alekhine. He lost to countryman Vasily Smyslov in 1957 but returned the next year to regain the title.

Up to that time Alekhine had been the only champion to make a comeback, regaining the championship from Max Euwe of The Netherlands. Alekhine was 45 at the time, the oldest man ever to become champion until Botvinnik did it at 47.

Harry Golombek, international master from London who was judge of the latest match, said Botvinnik played "with a subtlety that could hardly be rivalled by any other master of the present time and by few of the past."

Alexander describes Botvinnik's victory as "at least as much a triumph of character as of intellect—he succeeded—something he failed to achieve last year—in imposing his style of game on Tal."

Tal is a tactician of genius; he is at his best in very complicated positions, where he shows amazing insight and imagination; he is unequalled in his ability to build winning attacks in such situations.

"Botvinnik is a profound strategist; he excels in long-range planning and in subtle manoeuvring to create and exploit weaknesses starting from quite ordinary-looking positions; his judgment in such positions is superb."

Situations that Suited Him

"So the decision rested largely on whether Tal would be able to get the complex situations that suited him or Botvinnik would succeed in keeping the games in quieter channels and then outplaying Tal strategically. And this struggle was won by Botvinnik."

Vyacheslav Ragozin, Soviet grandmaster and editor-in-chief of the magazine, Chess in the USSR, who was Botvinnik's coach for 15 years, said the latest match revealed "Botvinnik's superior training both in theory and psychology."

He noted that in 10 of the first 14 games, queens were exchanged early in the struggle, posing a disadvantage for Tal, to whom the queen is the main and most dangerous piece.

"Our family of Soviet grandmasters with their scientifically substantiated approach to the game has been shaken up by Tal's tempestuous and daring style but we wonder whether this style is becoming too monotonous. As the years go by Tal's tactics are losing their acuteness and strength. The grandmasters are finding antidotes to Tal's headlong attacks."

Looking to the future, Alexander wonders whether Tal will be able to recover from this reverse. He recalls that Smyslov, 10 years younger than Botvinnik, never regained his form after losing in 1958.

He takes note of the fact that Soviet players today dominate the world of chess and suggests the only possibility—a doubtful one—that a non-Russian will take the championship lies with Bobby Fischer, 17-year-old from Brooklyn who has won the American championship for the last four years.

DOUG HARVEY
... new Ranger coach

Harvey Given 'Free Hand'

MONTREAL (CP)—Doug Harvey, Montreal's all-star defenceman, signed a three-year contract Wednesday as playing coach of New York Rangers and was promised a free hand in trying to mold the National Hockey League also-ran into a winning combination next season.

Harvey, who at 36 will be the youngest and only playing coach in the NHL, told a press conference he made up his mind "fully" to leave the Canadiens only Wednesday although negotiations had been going on for several weeks.

General Manager Muzz Patrick, elated over the move, said Harvey will have the full run of the Rangers and he doesn't anticipate the crew-cut backliner will have any problem playing and coaching.

Asked who would "open and close the gate" when Harvey is on the ice, Patrick said he would be willing to pitch in, or bring in an assistant coach.

Emil (The Cat) Francis was mentioned as a possibility. Francis coached Guelph, a Ranger farm club in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, to the league championship last season.

SEEK MORE MATE

Harvey himself said he would like to have one or two of his former Montreal teammates who understand his style of play in the Ranger lineup next season. He felt that managing director Frank Selke of the Canadiens would be sympathetic toward possible trades.

Patrick disclosed that it was Selke who first broached the subject of Harvey taking the Ranger job. Coach Alf Pike was fired last March when the Rangers finished out of the playoffs for the third season in a row.

GOOD SALARY

Although no salary figure was disclosed, Harvey said he will get slightly more than he did with the Canadiens. He earned an estimated $22,000 last season, plus more than $3,500 in bonuses and playoff money.

Admiral John J. Bergen, president of the Rangers, said as far as he knew the three-year contract, a rarity in the NHL, is the best any coach has ever received. Patrick said Harvey will be among the top salaried players in the league, if not the top man.

MAY TRADE FONTINATO

The Canadiens originally asked for Lou Fontinato, the colorful Ranger defenceman, in return for Harvey. Patrick indicated he would part with Fontinato, but negotiations between the two clubs will not be made final for another day or two.

Butlers Win Third Time

Butler Brothers, rebounding from a three-game losing streak at the start of the season, beat Victoria City for the third straight time, 14-5, yesterday to tie them for the lead in the bantam division of the Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association.

Ken Alexander and Jindy Johl led the way with four goals each, and Alexander also had four assists.

Butlers—Ken Alexander 4, Jindy Johl 4, Jim Davidson 1, Iain Preston 1, Robert Whittaker 1, Total—14.

City—Dave Marshall 2, Bob Barker, Don George, Clarence Beggs, Total—5.

Federation Woos Island Sportsmen

By ALEC MERRIMAN

The revitalized Lower Island's Amalgamated Sportsmen's Association may link up with the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs to provide a strong united voice to battle for the rights of B.C. outdoorsmen.

The Amalgamated which is in the throes of reorganization to place more emphasis on salmon conservation and to bring within its membership the Pacific Trollers Association, includes all the major salmon clubs on the lower end of the island, plus the Victoria Fish and Game Club, South Vancouver Island Rangers, Victoria Sno Birds Ski Club and others.

SUPPORT ASKED

Ted Barsby, of Nanaimo, a director and often called "father of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs" was on hand at Tuesday's meeting of the Amalgamated to plea for support for the B.C. Federation and to ask the Amalgamated not to try to go it alone and expand its activities on a province-wide basis.

"Proposed new constitution of the Amalgamated authorizes activities on a province-wide field, but this is only to allow the Pacific Trollers to take part because its operations extend off Vancouver Island."

"Our constitutions are similar. We feel exactly the same way as you do. We are for conservation of salmon, trout, game and birds. One quarter of our convention agenda was taken up with salmon problems and concern over saltwater," Barsby told Amalgamated delegates who were at first suspicious but who later turned around to voice some support for his proposals.

The B.C. Federation now represents 145 clubs with nearly 20,000 members. The Amalgamated represents more than 1,600 members.

Old wounds were opened by some of the older members of the Amalgamated, who remembered they had been "cold-shouldered" when as individual salmon clubs they belonged to the fish and game island zone several years ago.

"In 1951 and 1952 we wasted our gas to go to your meetings in Nanaimo and got in suited. We talked salmon fishing and they just weren't interested," Andy Anderson of the Saanich Anglers recalled.

NEW FEELING

"I know you have taken a kicking, but since then the B.C. Federation organization has been changed and there's a brand new feeling of co-operation with salmon fishermen," Barsby said.

Barsby outlined a plan by which the Amalgamated could take out a club membership in the Federation by paying a $5 charter fee, plus $10 a year dues, which would give it a voice in the federation and the right to send a voting delegate to conventions.

Delegates voted to return to their individual clubs and seek views upon whether the Amalgamated should join the B.C. Federation as an individual club. Barsby said he would then approach each individual member club to see if it would like to affiliate with the Federation of B.C. Fish and Game Clubs.

By the close, the Australian openers, Bill Lawry and Bobby Simpson, had made 62 without being separated.

Other close-of-play scores

Hampshire 127, Somerset 143 for four.
Lancashire 268 for seven declared.
Middlesex 26 for one declared.
Gloucestershire 170, Surrey 120 for two.

Leicestershire 111.
Nottinghamshire 164 and 168 for two.
Combined Services 317 for nine declared.
Kent 338 for nine declared; Gloucestershire 200 for seven.

Longshot Wins Derby

ERSOM, England (AP)—Paidium, a 65-to-1 and 90-to-1 long shot, came from last place in a field of 26 and won the 162nd English Derby Wednesday in the biggest upset in nearly half a century.

French jockey Roger Poincelet, last with a mile to go, took him through the pack unnoticed and flashed to the front 150 yards from the finish. He won by two lengths from Dicta Drake (10-to-1) with American-owned Pardao (12-to-1) third, a neck away.

The tote—British equivalent of pari-mutuel betting—paid odds of 90-to-1 against Paidium. Bookmakers had Paidium at 65-to-1. It was the most sensational Derby since 1913, when 100-to-1 Abeyeur was the winner.

The most surprised person in the crowd of 250,000 thronging Epsom Downs in bright sunshine was Paidium's owner, Mrs. Arpad Plesch, wife of a Hungarian financier who lives in the south of France.

SURPRISED OWNER

"I never expected he would finish in the first 10," Mrs. Plesch said. "I never even bet on him."

The victory brought her a first prize of $86,734. An Irish hospital sweepstakes was based on the results of the classic for three-year-old colts and fillies.

Bookmakers cleaned up on Paidium's victory even though the Derby was rated a wide open race this year. Heaviest backing in the pre-race betting went on the American-owned Moutiers, which finished out of the first 12, Dicta Drake, Pardao, Just Great, Sovrango, Time Greline and Dual.

OWNED BY WOMEN

The first three horses are owned by women. Dicta Drake belongs to Mrs. Suzy Volterra, who won the Derby with his sire, Phil Drake, in 1955. She collected $10,886 for second place.

Pardao earned third money of $5,163 for Mrs. C. O. Iselin, of Glen Head, N.Y.

Queen Elizabeth and other members of the Royal Family watched the upset. The Queen had no runner in the race.

The 1½-mile horsehoes shaped course was baked hard after weeks without rain, and the rock-hard ground apparently upset many of the fancied horses.

The winning time was 2:04.4. Sovrango was fourth followed in order by Cipriani, Just Great, Latin Lover, Bounteous, Nicodemus, Hot Brand, Akosha and Belliqueux II. The positions after the first 12 were not announced.

Scores of Drug Capsules Found Inside B.C. Prison

Brownies Fly Up

OTTAWA (CP)—More than 80 "capsules" of drugs have been found in the B.C. penitentiary in the last four years, Justice Minister Fulton said Wednesday.

The minister said that twice in 1957 heroin was found on penitentiary property — 10 capsules of the narcotic on the farm and four capsules near a penitentiary house.

In 1958, he said, an ex-inmate was arrested in the act of planting narcotics near the penitentiary houses, but the amount and type of drugs were not given. He was sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Sixteen capsules were found last September near the hegyard in the prison compound, but the type of drug was not stated.

The report also disclosed that in July of 1957, three inmates of the penitentiary were found with eye droppers and hypodermic needles in their possession. In February, 1958, the penitentiary physician reported five inmates were under the influence of narcotics.

Penitentiary Trafficker Imprisoned

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)

John York, 35, carpentry instructor at the B.C. penitentiary found guilty of trafficking in narcotics, was sentenced yesterday to nine years.

"You committed a very serious offence under circumstances which make it most contemptible and despicable," said Magistrate George Cassidy.

York carried 56 capsules of heroin when he was arrested in the warden's office.

'Board Should Consider Gordon Head Zoning'

Reeve George Chatterton last night suggested placing the question of zoning property surrounding the new Victoria University campus at Gordon Head in the hands of the Capital Region Planning Board.

He was commenting on the statement by Coun. Stanley Murphy that Saanich should "not suggest but insist" that it be fully represented in any discussions by university authorities of land use in areas adjoining the campus.

The issue was raised during a public hearing at which council removed farm use zoning from a section of the sewer area adjoining the campus.

Councillors Move On Sewer Scheme

Saanich councillors met briefly as a board of health last night to declare that lack of sewers in the Willow-McBriar area was a health hazard and to clear the way for council to order installation of the sewers without a bylaw vote.

Reeve George Chatterton said municipal officials assured him that "about 85 per cent" of residents in 460 homes affected were in favor of the sewer scheme which had previously been explained to them in detail at a public meeting.

Costs to property owners for the $43,000 treatment plant and lift station plus $119,000 for laterals and house connections are estimated at $1 per assessable foot of property frontage, with an additional maintenance charge of $8 yearly for each dwelling.

The Municipal Act empowers municipalities to install sewers without a vote when both the medical health officer and the local board of health have ruled the sewers are "necessary in the public interest on sanitary grounds."

Esquimalt Shock

Marksman 'Pings' Windshield of Car

An Esquimalt motorist came in for a bit of a shock yesterday when he heard a loud "ping" and a hole appeared in his car windshield.

"It must have been an air rifle," said Alex Stevens, 877 Wollaston. "There wasn't another car within half a block of me when it happened."

He said he was driving along Esquimalt Road when the hole appeared in the windshield. He drove on for a block, then turned and drove back but was unable to see anyone.

Police searched the area but were unable to locate the marksman.

By a coincidence, a year ago Mr. Stevens had his car windshield shattered by a 22 bullet while driving on the Patricia Bay Highway.

Better B.C. Roads Urged As Best Lure to Tourists

Bigger and better highways are the best argument B.C. can put up to talk U.S. tourists into scrapping their European trip and coming here.

This is the opinion of Elmer Jenkins, Washington, D.C., travel director of the American Automobile Association and guest speaker at today's Canadian Automobile Association luncheon.

PRIME OBJECTIVE

Says Mr. Jenkins: "Europe and the Far Eastern countries operate a total of 60 travel information offices in the United States. If we want to keep the tourist industry thriving here in North America, it is time Canada, the U.S. and Mexico got together to counteract the overseas lure. We should try to make North America the prime tourist objective."

IMPROVEMENT SEEN

Canada is rated as a prime tourist spot by Mr. Jenkins. "The one drawback in the past has been the lack of good highways. Here in B.C. there is a marked improvement in the roads. When the Northwest gets better roads, you'll see more tourists than you ever dreamed of."

Saanich Backs Request For National Arboretum

Saanich parks committee last night endorsed a request by the Arboretum Society that the federal government establish a national arboretum in the municipality to mark the centenary of Confederation in 1967.

Coun. Gregory Cook said all the society wanted of Saanich was endorsement of its request, "and no doubt the support of our new MP as well."

Coun. Leslie Passmore chuckled: "We'll even call it Chatterton Park."

Bennett 'Pays Off'

Columbia Sabotaged —Strachan

CCF leader Robert Strachan yesterday accused the provincial government of trying to "sabotage" full development of the Columbia River "in order to force the people to purchase expensive private power from the Peace River."

Mr. Strachan made the charge in a press release commenting on recent statements by Premier Bennett that British Columbia be allowed to export all power from the Columbia River to the United States.

The CCF leader said:

ARROW LAKES

"The people on the Arrow Lakes now know they are to be flooded out, not because this will provide cheap power to benefit B.C. and Canada, but merely as a callous means of paying off the premier's political debts and to ensure profits for Wenner-Gren and his foreign promoters."

"The Social Credit government scheme to sell all downstream benefits to the United States is exactly what I have on many occasions forecast they would do."

PRIVATE POWER

"I have said that this government was determined at all costs to sabotage the full development (McNaughton Plan) of the Columbia in order to force the people to purchase expensive private power from the Peace River."

Mr. Strachan's statement went on to charge that no matter what figures the B.C. Energy Board quotes for Peace Power, it will include guaranteed profits and the payment of corporation tax.

NOT FROM BOTH

"The premier has now dropped all pretence that power from both rivers is needed in British Columbia and is admitting that his main interest is to further the industrial development of the United States at the expense of Canada in return, of course, for the almighty dollar which the Social Credit party funds will share with Axel Wenner-Gren."

TAKING PART

"Now we know the price demanded by Mr. Wenner-Gren and the B.C. Electric for their election donations. Once again they have cracked the whip and the government has jumped."

"If the federal government agrees to this scheme, they will be taking part in one of the greatest betrayals of the public interest in the history of Canada. They will be acknowledging the domination of our national energy policy to private companies," said the statement.

City Loses 'Guardian'

A nurse who has spent more than six years overseeing prompt medical aid for victims of traffic, industrial, home and other accidents is leaving Victoria today.

Nurse Aided Hundreds

Mrs. Dorothy Bullard has been head nurse in the emergency ward at Royal Jubilee Hospital since Jan. 1, 1955. Few could estimate the number of fractures, cuts, burns, poisonings and assorted sudden injuries that have gone through her department.

Many patients and police and other emergency drivers who have brought in her "customers" remember her calm, pleasant efficiency under the most trying circumstances.

Mrs. Bullard each year would urge wide publicity for some of the regular perils: poisonous laburnum seeds, so tempting to small children; power mowers, perilous to all careless users; poisonous berries in their seasons.

As a nurse, she was prepared to treat each case—but she was more pleased if she felt the public was being educated to daily dangers that might be avoided.

She and her husband George are off to Quebec where they grew up together. Mr. Bullard, a hardwood lumber inspector by profession, hopes to get back into his line of work, and Broad, a spokesman said yesterday.

Mrs. Bullard plans a summer of rest, then a return to nursing either in the Gatineau or the Eastern Townships.

country or the Eastern Townships.

Before coming to Victoria and the Jubilee in 1954, Mrs. Bullard nursed for some time at the Neurological Institute in Montreal.

Her successor in emergency at Jubilee will be Mary Lewis, a member of the ward's staff.

Artists Moving Offices To Former Gallery

Victoria Society of Artists will soon move into new offices downtown, formerly occupied by the Apollo Art Gallery, at the corner of Fort and Broad, a spokesman said yesterday.

The society plans to have art classes, a public gallery and its headquarters on the second and third floors of the building about June 15. Former centre was located at 1153 Fort Street.

Add a Dime and Call Miami

B.C. Firm Makes Long-Distance Case

By EDMUND CONGROVE
The difference in cost between a long distance telephone call to Prince Rupert and Miami is one this dime. That's right. The plunger who impresses friends and neighbors with the odd call to Florida is really a piker compared with the guy who phones home to Spuzzum, B.C., once a day. For the cost of a three-minute call to the land of bathing beauties and bourbon is $1.85 station-to-station (night rate). The cost of a call to Prince Rupert: $1.85. Now before everybody gets excited and starts screaming for probes and investigations, a few reasons. First, foremost — and last, call — population. Population means volume of business. Volume means lower overhead. Lower overhead means lower costs. So equate Canada's population of 18,000,000 against the United States' population of 180,000,000 and mix in the fact that distances, coast-to-coast, are the same. It boils down to the fact that it is just about as far from Vancouver to Saint John, N.B., as from Seattle to New York. And it costs Canadian telephone companies just as much to build their lines, with fewer potential customers. However, there's a bright side. U.S. phone subscribers pay higher exchange rates than do their Canadian cousins, and after all, how often are we placing long distance phone calls?

All this information was offered in a soothing voice by a spokesman for the B.C. Telephone Co. when a reporter scanned comparative long-distance rates and demanded indignantly, "Why?" Also, provincial telephone companies, such as B.C. Telephone, only receive revenue from the point of origin of the call to the B.C. border. In other words, if you're calling Toronto, B.C. Telephone only gets to nibble on the portion of the call within its boundaries. Then other systems in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario take their slice. All provincial systems contributed to the cost of the $120,000,000 micro-wave which doubled Canada's east-west telephone facilities and brought a reduction in trans-Canada rates. So that's the case for the telephone companies. Soon as we fill up the Prairies with party lines, we will have cheaper phone rates.

Building Slump Set At 2.7 Per Cent

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canada's 1960 construction program totalled $6,900,000,000, down 2.7 per cent from the previous year's $7,100,000,000, the bureau of statistics said Wednesday.

New construction fell 3.9 per cent to more than offset a slight increase in repair work. Biggest reduction was in residential construction. Schools, mines, and office and broadcasting buildings showed increases.

Beef Ban Beaten

PENTICTON (CP)—A resolution suggesting restriction on imports of New Zealand beef was resoundingly defeated at the annual convention of the B.C. Beef Cattle Growers Association. Delegates said stockmen are free traders and enjoy tariff harmony with the United States up to a certain quota. Some said tariffs against New Zealand imports might be followed by U.S. restrictions against B.C. beef.

Training Urged for Youth To Deny 'Dirty' Politics

OTTAWA (UPI)—Defence Production Minister O'Hurley said Wednesday many able young persons decide against a political career because some consider politics to be a "dirty" business. He suggested young people receive training in politics so they will be familiar with the role of a politician should they seek that career or will be able to vote more intelligently. He said it was unfortunate but one must conclude there were more politicians than statesmen in political life. "There is towards public administration not only an utter lack of interest but very often a hardly concealed ill-feeling," he added, "and, we might as well say it, a fear of soiling one's hands."

It Was Dull, Too

May Soaking Worst Here In 13 Years

Victoria has just sloshed through the wettest May since 1948—and the seventh-rainiest in 74 years.

It rained a total of 1.57 inches—67-inches above normal. There were 11 days of measurable precipitation.

This helped boost the total precipitation from Jan. 1 to May 31 to 17.1 inches—5.19 above normal.

The weather office also reports it was the 10th dullest May recorded since it started counting the sunshine hours 48 years ago.

BELOW NORMAL

There was a total of 232 hours of sunshine, compared with the normal average of 275—which brings the total to 43 hours below normal.

Hottest day of the month was May 19, when the thermometer soared to 79.2, a new high for that date, but still far below the hottest May day on record, May 26, 1947, when it hit 85 degrees.

COOL GRASS

Minimum temperature for the month was 42.2 on May 3. Grass (or ground) minimum was 36.6 on May 16.

The average mean temperature was 52.3 degrees.

Indian Pupils From U.S. Here Today

Visiting Indian children from a Washington State elementary school will take a "chowder break" at 10 a.m. today in Thunderbird Park.

The 50 children from the Taholah Elementary School at Gray's Harbor will arrive in Victoria at 8.30 a.m. for a tour of the provincial museum where they will view Indian artifacts.

ACTING CURATOR

The party is under the charge of school principal Harold Patterson. They will be guided on their tour of the museum by acting curator Don Abbott.

From there, they will go to the park where chowder will be served by members of the Indian Arts and Welfare Society.

MEET CARVERS

They will be served by society members Mrs. E. F. W. Cox, Mrs. A. J. Pullis, George Clutesi, Mrs. Sam Joseph and Mrs. Helen Hunt. The children will also meet carvers Mungo Martin and Henry Hunt.

The party will then tour the city before returning to Washington.

Cold Snap Kills Crop

MONTREAL (UPI)—A prolonged cold snap which has sent temperatures to below freezing readings for several days, yesterday was blamed for destroying one-third of the Quebec tobacco crop.

Rosaire Roch, manager of the Imperial Tobacco Co. of Canada plants at Joliette, said the overnight freezeup came at a time when one-third of seedlings had been taken out of the greenhouses and planted.

King Fisherman

Saanich Inlet Haul Improving Steadily

Fishing in Saanich Inlet is showing a steady improvement although it has a long way to go before it could be called good.

Practically everybody caught fish yesterday morning at the Goldstream end with Ned Cadillac's 15.5-pound fish the biggest of the weigh-ins.

First of the North Island spring salmon have been weighed in at Bates' Beach north of Courtenay and fishing there should be at its best by the middle of this month.

Constable Cleared of Race-Bias Charges

Victoria Motorcycle Const. Albert V. Harwood has been cleared completely by city police commission of charges of racial discrimination in his arrest early this year of a young Chinese driver.

In a unanimous decision

handed down yesterday, the commission said:

"Victoria Police Commission, having enquired thoroughly into the case of the Chinese arrested for careless driving, finds no evidence whatsoever of racial discrimination on the part of the arresting officer (Const. Harwood) or any other member of the police department.

"Regarding the arrest of the driver, we find that this is not at all unusual for motorists charged with careless driving.

"In the matter of the amount of bail set, we find this is not in any way connected with the police department."

A letter from the commission to Const. Harwood advised him he had been cleared of the charges, first voiced in a speech to the provincial legislature by city MLA Waldo Skilling, who was quoting a letter on the subject from the Chinese Benevolent Association.

The case originated with the arrest of young Chinese Low Sui Yew for careless driving, following a collision at the Fountain Circle witnessed by Const. Harwood.

Appearing subsequently in city police court, Low Sui

Yew pleaded guilty to the charge through counsel and was fined $40.

Meanwhile he had been released on bail of $1,000—also a matter of criticism. During the exhaustive hearings, in which sworn testimony was taken from a number of witnesses, it was explained the amount of bail was set as a result of a misunderstanding of the charge laid.

Const. Harwood is just returning to duty this week after recovering from physical injuries he received when his motorcycle skidded and pinned him during the Victoria Day parade.

Off Pole

Coon Up Tree

The raccoon that worried Belmont Park Tuesday by getting stuck on top of a power pole made it safely to the ground overnight. But it didn't go very far.

Late reports yesterday said the animal was high in a tree—25 feet from the pole.

NO WIRES

This, for all raccoon-worriers, represents an improvement. "Exit" from the tree is much simpler and there are no high-tension wires.

At the same time, police have warned young would-be rescuers not to climb the tree to get the animal down. They might fall themselves, they were told.

WAIT IT OUT

Colwood RCMP plan to follow Tuesday's plan—wait it out. They are sure the animal will come down again in the dark and, as long as it isn't frightened by human or dog, make it safely to the wilds.

Leave Fawns On Roads Drivers Told

A warning to leave fawns alone, even if they appear to be abandoned by the mother deer, was sounded yesterday by Game Inspector Robert Sinclair.

Already conservation officer Jack Lenfesty has apprehended one person starting to put a fawn into his car, Inspector Sinclair said. Maximum fine for the offence is $300—and we will prosecute.

Inspector Sinclair explained that this is the time of year fawns are seen along the side of the road, apparently abandoned, but actually the mother deer is in the bush watching.

"People usually think they are doing the fawn a favor, but they are not," he said.

He also warned motorists to be careful not to run over grouse chicks which may often be seen now crossing a road or highway.

Fall Breaks Tot's Thighs

Two-year-old Terri Fleet, 801 Roderick, suffered two broken thighs in a 16-foot fall from a second-floor balcony at 2841 Blackwood yesterday afternoon.

City police rushed the child to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where her condition was satisfactory.

Lease-Purchase Parking

Mooney Ready to Back Down To Support Scurrah Scheme

Acting Mayor Ald. Millard Mooney said yesterday he is prepared to swallow his opposition to civic off-street parking projects in order to let Mayor Percy Scurrah's $1,000,000 lease purchase plan bear fruit.

He said he still believes off-street parking in Victoria's ailing downtown area should be provided by private enterprise.

FAILED SO FAR

"But we've been trying and trying to get free enterprise interested and it's getting later and later and we have failed so far," he said.

Foundry Pours, Sculptor Looks —Art Has Name

How does a modern sculptor work? "I don't work in my basement, like a lot of people think. I have the forms poured at a foundry," Elza Mayhew said this week at the opening of her abstract and symbolic form exhibition at the Art Gallery. A dozen of her larger pieces, done in cast stone with some standing four feet high and weighing up to 400 pounds, are displayed outside on the gallery grounds.

Instead of making a statue to fit a predetermined title, she names her works after they are completed.

Moving toward an abstract form called "Warrior," she said: "The dome, these zig-zags, the arch—a warrior. Don't you see it?"

She said "life associations" find their way into "pure form" and "the subconscious comes out as you work. Sometimes I am surprised."

The exhibit will be shown until June 18, with the larger pieces placed outdoors and smaller works of cast iron, cast stone and bronze, and drawings, being shown inside the gallery.

Mrs. Mayhew recently won special mention for an entry at the Northwest Institute of Sculpture's current showing at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Salvation Army Campaign Enters the Home Stretch

The Salvation Army's drive for $245,000 has entered the home stretch, officials reported yesterday.

Volunteer workers have intensified their efforts to complete the canvass of Victoria residents, who are being asked to help build the new Masonic Lodge and provide Red Shield services with operating capital.

NOT YET CALLED

A spokesman for the campaign reported yesterday campaign headquarters had received a number of calls from citizens who have not yet been called on by canvassers.

"Most of them are from people who thought we were conducting a door-to-door campaign," he said.

"Our system has been to call people listed in the telephone directory, then send them a pamphlet and envelope so they could send in their donation."

HAS ITS FLAWS

But the system has its flaws, he admitted. A number of citizens had moved to new addresses and had not been contacted.

"If they wish to contribute, they can send their donations to campaign headquarters at 737 Pandora," he said.

Drum Rite June 16

Presentation of a sterling silver set of ceremonial drums to the BCN Pacific Command will take place in Beacon Hill Park starting at 7:30 p.m. June 16, not June 15 as reported yesterday. The drums are a gift from the people of Greater Victoria and B.C.

Civic Centre Site

Saanich Chooses Spot For Police-Fire Home

Still Room for Hall Chatterton Reports

Saanich last night ordered the go-ahead on its new $200,000 joint fire-police headquarters building on the Swan Lake civic centre site at Douglas and Vernon.

All members of council attended a special building committee meeting at which sketch plans for the project were approved. Architect R. W. Siddall was ordered to prepare working drawings.

Reeve George Chatterton said the working drawings should take about a month to complete and added there is a "real possibility" the joint headquarters will be completed by the end of this year. The reeve said there would still be room on the 7½-acre municipally-owned site at Vernon to build the proposed municipal hall and health and welfare building, if a future council so decided.

Preliminary estimates showed costs for the building are expected to be about $200,000.

Extras Cost More

Site preparation, including bulldozing and fill, will cost another $20,000 and provision of an asphalt driveway and exercise yard for firemen will add another $13,700.

Further $21,700 will be spent over a period, it is estimated, to add more paving, curbs, gutters, sidewalks and boulevard tree planting. It was agreed this work would be limited at present.

Thus the total estimated cost for the joint fire-police headquarters on the new site is about $235,000—about $25,000 more than the figure reached for the project at the Haynes Road site, north of Swan Lake, and recently dropped by the council.

No objections were raised by council members during discussions of the sketch plans for the new site. Coun. Stanley Murphy and Coun. Joseph Casey voted the building appeared to be spread unduly over the site, but the committee was informed this was made necessary by the ground contours.

The detailed study just completed bore out previous estimates by municipal officials that the cost at Vernon would run about $30,000 to $30,000 above that for the Haynes Road site.

Saanich must vacate its No. 1 firehall by the end of the year. —

Money Matter

Battle Brews On Blanshard

A full-scale city council battle over financing of the $800,000 Blanshard Street extension started shaping up yesterday as Acting Mayor Ald. Millard Mooney scored borrowing for the project.

He said rather than borrow to finance the transformation of go-nowhere Blanshard Street into a major north-south traffic artery the city should resort to local improvement financing.

REPORT BAKED

Two weeks ago, acting finance chairman Ald. Austin Curtis proposed abandonment of the Blanshard plan in favor of an accelerated project to widen Quadra Street.

Public works committee Tuesday rejected the Quadra plan on the basis of a report by City Engineer James Carrett and asked finance committee to find a way of paying for the original Blanshard project. The committee was looking for a recommendation that the city abandon its pay-as-you-go policy and borrow the funds.

But such a recommendation seemed far away yesterday as Ald. Mooney sought local-improvement financing.

A member of the finance committee, he was not prepared to advocate borrowing. Ald. Curtis was not available for comment, nor was Mayor Scurrah, third member of the finance committee but a supporter of the Quadra plan.

Ald. Mooney said that if the Blanshard extension is going to be a highway into the city it should be paid for by B.C.

And, he added, development of the area along a right-of-way north of Blanshard's present northern terminus at Hillside should be paid for by adjacent property owners.

MAIN ARTERY

Rather than going now to the people with a money by-law to finance the Blanshard extension, he said, the city should survey the right-of-way and then build "a dirt road."

He said that if adjacent land was zoned properly the owners would pay for the ultimate transformation of Blanshard into a main traffic artery.

"Pay-as-you-go has worked for us so far and I don't see why it won't do this."

Smokers Puff Anyway Behind Cabinet's Back

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

HIS MARTEN VOICE: Yesterday was officially "no smoking day" according to the provincial cabinet.

Health Minister Eric Martin, bowing to pressure from the Never Touch 'em Club, persuaded his cabinet colleagues to approve a clampdown on smoking.

How successful was he? The "tuck shop" in the grounds of the legislative buildings reported cigarette sales normal.

WHEN IN ROME: Liberal Leader Ray Perrault ecstatically proclaims a great Liberal victory over the fact that 19,000 people voted against the federal Conservative government in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal byelection, while only 8,000 voted for it.

His memory is short. Last September, Mr. Per-rault became a provincial MLA when 48,000 people voted against the Liberal party in North Vancouver and 13,107 voted for him. He was elected.

That, of course, was a Liberal victory. Who says figures can't lie?

NO FLOWERS, BY REQUEST: Quoted from a postcard received by a friend from his daughter who last week flew to Los Angeles: "Fabulous jet ride. 30,000 feet, 575 m.p.h. Staying in a Hollywood motel; going to Disneyland tomorrow. No flowers at all in gardens here."

SPEAKER'S CHOICE: Jaycee Eric Charrman travelled to Penticton yesterday to represent this area in the B.C. finals of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce oratorical contest.

He won the local elimination contest in a breeze—he was the only contestant! Later he downed out-Island competition to win the Island finals.

"It's 86 here today," he reported from the Okanagan yesterday, "and that's hot!" His major problem: he's still looking for an accurate definition of Canadian culture—the subject of his speech.

BRIEFLY NOTED: Anger of a number of "true" Canadians was noted in a city hotel when a census enumerator turned up to ask questions yesterday. You see, the enumerator was what a few locally-born inhabitants referred to as "a DP!" ... Political observers are unanimous in one opinion—Liberal candidate David Greer has certainly earned the right to try again for a seat in the House of Commons. ... Premier Bennett is off to Kelowna, early this month. His son, B. J., is getting married June 14.

INSTANT ITEM: Friendliness is contagious, says McGillivuddy of Oak Bay Kwanza. The trouble is most of us wait to catch it from someone else when we might better be giving them a chance to catch it from us!

Mrs. N. Erskine, 539 Langford Street, announces the engagement of her eldest daughter, Norma Eileen, to Mr. Knud Petersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Petersen, Copenhagen, Denmark. The wedding will take place on Friday, June 30, in Victoria West United Church. The bride's sister, Miss Patricia Erskine, will be maid of honor; Mrs. C. Wilkins, bridesmatron, and Miss Joyce McMillan, bridesmaid.

WCTU Convention

Professional Groups Interested In Problems of Social Drinking

Some encouraging trends and discouraging trends were included in Mrs. E. W. Crawford's address to the 78th Annual Convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of British Columbia on Tuesday.

Mrs. Crawford, provincial president, noted the desirable trends, such as the growing interest at all levels of social organizations in the problems created by alcohol and cigarette smoking.

"National Institute of Mental Health, professional groups such as Medical Associations, Bar Associations and the National Safety Council are showing a much keener interest in problems the WCTU is trying to solve."

Disturbing trends she spoke of included the tendency of social drinkers to say "I couldn't care less," "I am not my brother's keeper," and "Why spoil the enjoyment of the many for the inconvenience of the few?"

"We need to seriously consider what our responsibilities are as men and women of a so-called Christian nation. We need to cultivate a society where Beatniks and Alsatians cannot exist. We need to look at this moral sickness and realize that we are living in a rapidly changing world and in order to survive we have to learn to live in it, not to produce hundreds of alcoholics yearly," said Mrs. Crawford.

Approximately 100 delegates, representing 57 unions and 987 members in B.C., heard the speech, and participated in the convention.

During the first day, reports were given from many parts of B.C.: Mrs. J. R. Strad, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. H. Boyer, financial statement; Mrs. Howard DeWitt of West Summerland, report for Okanagan District; Mrs. B. R. Barnes, Fraser Valley; Mrs. James Johnstone, Vancouver district, in the absence of Mrs. F. E. Vigneron; Mrs. Newland Phillips, Vancouver Island; Mrs. P. F. Armstrong.

Nanaimo; Mrs. A. H. Finlay, Alberni.

Provincial Superintendents' reports were by: Mrs. L. C. Pallett, Evangelistic; Miss Grace Fulton, scientific temperance; Mrs. M. E. Pacey, flower mission and visiting; Mrs. James Johnstone, work among soldiers and sailors; Mrs. H. G. Barber, publicity; Mrs. Newland Phillips, world missions; Mrs. David Smith, medal contests; Mrs. E. W. Crawford, University essay projects; Miss Sara McLaren, United Nations; Miss Grace Fulton, temperance study course.

In the afternoon Mrs. R. H. Boyer conducted a financial workshop and Mrs. C. R. Elsey and Mrs. David Smith conducted the medal contests. Miss Fulton conducted a scientific temperance and national temperance Sunday School studies workshop.

Programming was by Mrs. Gordon Hitchcock.

After dinner in the hall of Emmanuel Baptist Church, where the convention was held, a youth night was held, at which Metropolitan United Church Junior Choir sang. Marilyn Dymond won the piano medal contest. Also on the program was elocution by Karen Green, a film and playlet.

Resolutions passed during the Wednesday afternoon session dealt with a request that the CBC continue their policy of rejecting liquor advertising for B.C.; infractions of broadcasting regulations concerning advertisement of liquors; continuance of the B.C. provincial policy preventing women being employed in lounges and beer parlors; alcohol education programs in high schools.

At last evening's session, Mr. J. D. Tiedale, M.L.A., was guest speaker. Guests and delegates enjoyed a banquet in the church hall.

WCTU Officers

Mrs. B. R. Barnes officiated at the installation of officers Wednesday afternoon at the Women's Christian Temperance Union convention in Emmanuel Baptist Church.

New president is Mrs. E. W. Crawford; vice-presidents, Mrs. James Johnstone, Mrs. P. F. Armstrong, Mrs. P. C. Perry and Mrs. L. James; recording secretary, Mrs. C. R. Elsey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. R. Stead; treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Boyer; youth temperance council secretary, Mrs. Ivor Kaardal; field secretary, Mrs. Gordon Hitchcock.

Provincial superintendents are: evangelistic, Mrs. W. J. Sheridan; scientific temperance, Miss Grace Fulton; flower mission and visiting, Mrs. M. L. Wright; soldiers and sailors, Mrs. James Johnstone; publicity, Mrs. H. G. Barber; world missions, Mrs. Newland Phillips; university

Hats of Importance

Flowers and Feathers in Lead

By DOROTHY WROTONSKI

This is a true story—it happened when two friends who hadn't seen each other for a time met accidentally in the millinery department of a downtown Victoria store on Monday.

A favorite pastime of most members of the feminine sex they proceeded to chat while trying on a variety of new spring chapeau.

"How does this look? Do you think this suits me? How about this color?" are just a few samples of what they were asking each other.

Finally one of them looked at her watch and gathered up her things to make a dash for the next bus. Looking back she saw her friend with another hat on—she stopped to advise her "Don't buy that one—it doesn't suit you at all."

The shocked look and burst of laughter warned her what was coming. "Oh, this is my own hat."

PEACOCK COOLIE

Judging by all the pretty hats I saw at the tea following the Canadian Club meeting in the Empress Hotel yesterday everyone must have had one well-wishing friend along when shopping.

Dr. Olga Jardine, president, had bright red poppies atop her gay red straw and Mrs. Douglas Leechman drew all eyes in her direction in a coolie hat of peacock feathers.

TO EUROPE

Alderman Mrs. Lily Wilson excitedly talking about a trip to Europe at the end of this month where she will see both her daughters, had a pale gold straw with high crown to complete her cool green ensemble.

Mrs. R. B. Shaw and Miss Jessie Gordon presided at the

Norfolk House Garden Party

Four young ladies intent upon making the Norfolk House School Garden Fete on Saturday, June 3, a huge success, are, left to right, Misses Barbara Emery, Susan Mearns, Joan Harris and Pam Genge. They and other members of the Old Girls' Association have planned an afternoon of musical entertainment during which tea will be served. Stalls of cut flowers will also be a feature. The party will be held in the gardens of the home of Mrs. Montague Bridgman, Christmas Hill, 4076 Quadra Street, from 2 p.m. Proceeds will be used for library books and equipment for the school.

St. Joseph's Hospital

Tea Party on the Lawn

As children played on the lush green lawns, guests of the Ladies Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital enjoyed tea at a garden party held on the grounds yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. P. W. Semenchuk and Sister Mary Anne Celeste greeted guests, and convener was Mrs. C. N. Montague. Mrs. Stuart Keate officially opened the affair.

Special guests at the party were Mrs. Eric Martin, Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, Mrs. R. P. Strickland, Mrs. O. H. Lamont, Mrs. G. K. Sammon, Mrs. A. G. E. Robbins, Mrs. W. J. Mosedale, Mrs. R. J. Nation, Mrs. Stanley A. Murphy. Also among special guests were Mother Mary Angelus, Provincial Superior; Sister Monica Marie, and Sister Mary Patrick, Superiors of St. Ann's Academy and Mount St. Mary. Hostesses were Mrs. M. Addison and Mrs. J. A. McLellan.

Refreshments were arranged by Mrs. L. F. Sim, Mrs. C. Rose, Mrs. F. Sedgwick, Mrs. B. Wells and Mrs. R. N. Chant. In charge of the novelty stall were Mrs. B. G. Ryan and Mrs. A. G. Taylor; raffles, Mrs. M. Donovan and Mrs. H. Hayward; book books and membership, Mrs. H. O'Neill; home cooking stall, Mrs. A. W. Roden, Mrs. F. Thompson, Mrs. E. Thomson and Mrs. W.

Rogers; tea, Mrs. W. Rothery; cash, Mrs. G. Gillis and Mrs. Blair Reid; fortune teller, Mrs. Beard.

Serviteurs during the afternoon were Mrs. P. Salloway, Mrs. J. Fiddess, Mrs. S. Howard, Mrs. J. Chadderton, Mrs. P. Sinnott, Mrs. T. W. James, Mrs. J. McKenna, Mrs. G. Norrie, Mrs. T. Pye, Mrs. J. L. Robinson, Mrs. H. Jack, Mrs. W. Caldwell and Mrs. B. J. Merchant.

Proceeds were $500.00.

Newlyweds to Live At Shawnigan Lake

At a ceremony performed by Rev. F. E. H. James in Metropolitan United Church, Eileen Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Caldwell of Alberni, was united in marriage with Mr. Robert George McKee, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. McKee of South Burnaby, B.C.

The bride entered the church with her father to the strains of organ music played by Mr. A. Boothroyd.

A floor-length gown of pure silk organza, the basque bodice styled with Sabrina neckline delicately traced with re-embroidered Gulpure lace was worn by the bride. The full-hooped skirt also had tracings of lace from waistline to hem. A silk illusion veil with hand-rolled edge misted from her crown of lace edged with seed pearls.

Mrs. Loretta Powell, matron of honor, wore a dress of hyacinth blue organza over blue taffeta and bridesmaids, Mrs. Geraldine Canton and Mrs. Mavis Jonsson, wore the same shade of organza over blue green cotton print.

They had single fluffy rose hats and carried bouquets of white and blue carnations.

Mr. John E. Smith was best

pews were Mr. James Cairns, Mr. Richard Piercy, Mr. Donald Fargey and the bride's brother, Mr. Bruce Caldwell.

Mr. Bernard Gillette acted as master of ceremonies at the reception held in St. Luke's Hall. Mr. Edward Bratnell of Alberni proposed the toast.

The new Mrs. McKee wore a three-piece mauve knit suit styled with slim skirt and cropped jacket, with mauve accessories when the couple left to spend a honeymoon at Island Hall in Parksville.

Mr. and Mrs. McKee will

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Does a wife have the right to ask her husband where he is going when he leaves the house after supper with no explanation? Does she have the right to ask him where he has been when he comes in at 3 a.m.?

Clark and I have been married less than a year. He started this about six weeks ago. I didn't want to be a nag or seem mean, so I said nothing at first. Now I'm beginning to wonder. Last night when he left right after supper, I asked him where he was going. He said he was not a child and that it wasn't any of my business. I am 17 and he is 19. I need your advice. I can't talk to my mother about this because she was against our marriage. —ALONE NIGHTS.

Dear Alone: Welcome to the club—another couple of kids who don't know any more about the responsibilities of marriage than a hog knows about Sunday.

You bet a wife has the right to know where her husband is going—and where he has been. Marriage should mean mutual interests and doing things together. He should be taking you with him. Talk this problem over with your clergyman at once. Unless something is done to grow you two up in a hurry, your marriage is headed for the graveyard.

Dear Ann Landers: My son who is away at college phoned and asked me if he could bring three classmates home for the weekend. One guest was a fellow 20 years of age. The other two were girls both 19. I said it would be just fine since we have a large home and can accommodate three extras easily when our daughter is not at home. (She is away at school.)

They all arrived in good spirits, seemed to have a very fine time, and left this morning. I was surprised to find that the girls left their beds unmade and the room in a mess. My daughter's belongings were scattered all over. The girls had used her cosmetics, nail polish and remover, comb, brushes, hair clips, and they emptied a bottle of cologne. My son will be wanting to invite them again. What shall I say?

UNDECIDED MOTHER. Dear Undecided: Say "Yes" if he will permit you to give the girls some advance instructions on proper behavior for weekend guests. Apparently they don't know how to conduct themselves and someone ought to tell them. If your son says he'd rather you wouldn't say anything, let him know he is not free to offer them the hospitality of your home.

Dear Ann Landers: Usually you get letters from women who go with men for years and can't get them to put the ring on that important finger. Well, here's a switch for you. Please tell me what to do.

My girl is 20, very attractive, intelligent and has all the qualities I want in a wife. We've been going together for six years and I've been begging her for at least five of those six years to marry me. She always has had a long list of excuses. I told her last night it was next June or never.

She said she couldn't possibly leave her mother in that big house alone. Although I always swore I'd never move into her mother's home, this may be the only way to get the girl. What do you say? —BOB.

Dear Bob: I say no. The umbilical cord has never been severed. Her mother probably pumps hot soup through it three times a day. Tell her goodbye.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Dating and Marriage—And How Far To Go," containing with your request 25 cents in coin and a bank self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lynn Bennett Celebrates 14th Birthday

FULFORD, B.C.—Lynn Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bennett, celebrated her 14th birthday on Sunday, May 28. Friends who went with her on a mountain hike that day were Jill Scott, Susan Townley, Linda Inglis, Ronda Lee, Patsy Thorburn, Pat Atkins, Celia Walters and Diane Sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Lacy have returned to Fulford, after spending a few days with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lacy in Victoria.

On Thursday, June 8, Miss Judy Wakeham, right, and Miss Bonnie Kepner, left, will leave on a trip through Washington and Oregon to California, where they will make their home. They are going first to Portland for the Rose Festival, then on to Los Angeles and San Francisco before going to San Diego where, until they are settled, they will be guests of Miss Wakeham's cousin, Mrs. V. Jespersen. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wakeham, 3035 Shelbourne Street, and Mrs. K. Arnold, 132 Ontario Street. Also going with the girls, but just for a three-week visit, is a friend, Miss Eileen Jacobsen, also of Victoria.

Speaker Says

Canadians Must Work To Recover Economy

"I am convinced that the great age of Canada is just beginning because we are at last facing facts," Bruce Hutchison, Canadian author, told members of the Women's Canadian Club at a meeting in the Empress Hotel yesterday. The speaker's subject was "What is Happening to Canada."

"It will not be so difficult if we make a start—our forefathers couldn't see the end but they made a beginning and that is the important thing," the speaker stressed.

"The abundant wealth of the country is still here and the character of the people of Canada is still here," he said.

The mistake of the "20 golden years" which Mr. Hutchison described as abnormal and artificial, must be rectified and the blame must be put where it belongs—on ourselves, the speaker said. Achievement must come from the bottom, not the top. This means the co-operation of all classes in bringing Canada into line with world economics, he explained.

The cost of production in Canada is too high for competition in world markets and even in Canada, he said.

To expect higher prosperity every year without hard work on our part is downright absurd, he stated.

PEO Officers Installed

The annual convention of the B.C. Provincial Chapter of the PEO Sisterhood ended on Saturday at the Astor Hotel in Burnaby with the election of the officers. They were installed by Mrs. E. T. Kerr, corresponding secretary of Supreme Chapter as follows: President, Mrs. W. D. Reid, Ladner; first vice-president, Mrs. D. B. Turner, Victoria; second vice-president, Dr. Ruth White, Vancouver; organizer, Mrs. B. W. Taylor, Vancouver; recording secretary, Mrs. H. M. Morrison, Victoria; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. G. Gordon, Vancouver and treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Pentland, New Westminster.

Canadians must really work to recover a place in world markets, he stressed.

At the annual meeting of the club previous to the address Dr. Olga Jardine was named president for a second term. Other officers are Mrs. R. G. McKee, past president; Mrs. Fred M. Corbett, 1st vice-president; Miss E. L. Forbes, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. H. H. Youssan, 3rd vice-president; Mrs. P. J. Mukahy, secretary; Mrs. A. G. Slocumb, treasurer; Mrs. L. W. Topham, assistant treasurer; Mrs. H. S. Grove, historian; and Miss Helen Ratray, Mrs. J. R. Howard, Mrs. F. L. Walters, Mrs. H. Summers Clark, Mrs. W. Burnett, Mrs. Douglas Leachman and Mrs. R. H. McDougall, executive committees.

Bon Voyage Party

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Devlin entertained at her home on Rockland Avenue recently when guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. K. Wright, who leave Sunday for a three-month trip to Europe.

Among the guests, who presented a going-away gift to each of the travellers, were Mr. and Mrs. R. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. R. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. E. Jolly, Mrs. E. F. Hagarty, Mrs. P. Graves, Miss C. Graves, Mr. J. Devlin, Mr. S. Ford, Mr. M. Devlin, Miss M. Hampton and Mr. D. A. Church of Duncan.

Lodge Fete Wednesday

Carnie Rebekah Lodge, No. 45, IOOF, will hold the annual garden fete on Wednesday, June 7, from 2.30 to 4.30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buxton, 1566 Hillside Avenue. In case of inclement weather the affair will be held in the Odd Fellows Hall.

Mrs. E. Kelaer, district deputy, president of district No. 1 will open the affair.

Mrs. M. Rogers is convener and Mrs. D. Heller co-convener of the affair.

Proceeds will go to the World Eye Bank and Visual Research Fund.

Transistor radios were given as consolation prizes to six other winners—G. A. Gilles, 2710 Mount Stephen; N. D. Gray, 855 Vancouver; W. McAlpine, 673 Benvenuto; Lily McLaren, 2059 Byron; Keith Taylor, 3430 Woodburn, and Lee Flach, 865 Vernon.

X-Rays for Babies' Thyroids

Cancer Cause Bared

REGINA (CP)—Use of radiation in the treatment of a glandular condition in babies is a cause of cancer of the thyroid, Dr. Theodore Winship of Washington, D.C., said Wednesday.

He told a cancer symposium he has conducted a 20-year study of this disease and has found 80 per cent of thyroid cancer patients were radiated as babies.

Explaining his findings, Dr. Winship said in earlier years—and even in some places today—an enlarged thyroid gland in a baby was considered dangerous and treated by X-ray therapy.

"This little bit of stimulation to the thyroid gland plus 15 years of normal growth produced cancer in 80 per cent of the cases I studied," he said. "This makes cancer of the thyroid an almost preventable disease."

He said the number of cases has almost quadrupled in the last 20 years.

Dr. A. J. Bailey of Regina said that, while five times more women than men have goitre, the number of these goitre cases that are cancerous occur in five times as many men as women. This was shown in a five-year survey.

He said all men with goitre should be operated on because of the increased risk of cancer.

Results of the survey indicate age of the patient and duration of the goitre have no bearing on the presence of cancer.

Dr. Richard Jesse of Houston, Tex., said a mass or nodule in the neck should be considered cancer until proven otherwise.

He said that because experts

'Air Cushion' Vehicles To Be Built by Avro

TORONTO (CP)—An official of Avro Aircraft Ltd. said Wednesday the firm will co-operate with a large U.S. corporation to develop ground effect machines, troop-carrying vehicles that travel on a cushion of air inches above the ground.

Avro has signed an agreement with the Borg-Warner Corporation of Michigan.

Young Seaman Chooses Jail Rather Than $125 in Fines

A young naval seaman yesterday decided to serve 19 days in jail rather than pay fines after pleading guilty to two offences in city police court.

Paul Fraser Farnell, HMCS Beavon Hill, had admitted uttering a forged document—in this case, presenting a driver's licence bearing his name which had not been issued to him—and driving without a valid licence.

Magistrate William Ostler fined Farnell $100, or in default 14 days, on the first charge; $25, or in default five days, on the second, and asked if he wished time to pay.

"No, sir," was the reply.

Robert James Pirie, HMCS

Stettler, was fined $40 for driving without a driver's licence. He had appeared Monday in Esquimalt court and was fined on the same charge

Appearing in city court, he said he had been stopped by a city constable but was told to drive on to barracks.

This was denied by two Victoria constables who were present when Pirie was stopped. He was fined an additional $10 for making an

Gautreau, 2569 Selwyn,

Garden Notes

Repel That Pooch

By M. V. CHESNUT, FERN

I don't suppose a single week passes throughout the year without at least a couple of letters arriving on my desk from irate gardeners complaining about dog damage in their gardens. It is certainly annoying when the lower branches of dwarf evergreen shrubs turn color and die as a result of the canine visits, but fortunately this isn't too hard to control.

It is when all the neighborhood pooches take to making a public convenience of your lawn that trouble really starts, for I don't know of any practical remedy for this, and cleaning up the lawn before mowing can be a disgusting chore.

There are several very good dog repellents on the market under such names as Ridz, Chaparrone, Dog-Zoff and Later's, sold as pressurized aerosol sprays, and it is only the work of a moment to give the evergreens a squirt, also tree trunks, telegraph poles, fire hydrants and garbage cans. The stuff really does work, although it doesn't last very long; it may be necessary to spray once a week, although not necessarily throughout the whole season.

You see, dogs play a sort of follow-the-leader game — they come sniffing around and, where one dog has come, others will follow. As a rule, it is only necessary to spray long enough to break this vicious circle and, when the visiting habit is broken, the aerosol can be put away until some enterprising pooch starts the whole thing all over again.

Incidentally, if these proprietary dog repellents are not readily available in your community, a pretty good substitute is ordinary nicotine sulphate such as Black Leaf 40. Used as an insecticide and aphid-killer, this preparation is always applied in soapy water but, as a dog repellent, it is best to omit the soap. Nicotine sulphate is very volatile and the effect lasts for an even shorter time than the brand name repellents, most of which are based on bone oil, oil of sassafras and moth crystals.

The lawn is the big problem, for it isn't practicable to use an expensive spray on a vast stretch of grass. As I say, I don't know of any remedy, outside of a comfortable chair on the front porch with a Little Daisy air rifle across your knees. A smart sting on the flank is a remarkably effective deterrent.

The proprietary dog sprays will also repel cats but here the problem is not so much damage to shrubs or lawn as the digging up of freshly prepared seed beds, and the sprays don't work very well on soil. Some of the older garden books recommend a sprinkle of pepper but this has never had the slightest effect for me.

Cats are clean creatures and it seems to me that the best solution is to provide Tom with a more comfortable and secluded place to do his business. Perhaps a far corner of the garden, with the soil nicely firmed down, with sand and peat added to keep it loose and friable and with a plant of Catmint nearby as an added attraction.

Real Estate Bust Coming?

Daniel M. Friedenberg, a real estate speculator, has written a scary article in Harper's called "The Coming Bust in the Real Estate Boom" to which I commend anyone who is interested in cities or the economy or just living. "A successful real estate operator reveals how he and his fellow speculators have used special (U.S.) tax loopholes to pick up millions overnight," says the sub lead, "and in the process have bled their tenants, blighted our cities, and puffed up the financial bubble to the point of collapse."

Real estate speculation has always attracted some of the biggest scoundrels in the world. Rarely in the past have they been given such tax incentives to rip cities apart and make millions at it. "Now I have begun to observe a repetition of the disastrous overbuilding of the '20s, and overbuilding which poses dangers to the stability of the nation's economy."

All this awoke echoes. I dug out the chapter on limits of urban growth about the decline of Rome from Lewis Mumford's "The City in History." "In the repeated decay and breakdown of one civilization after another, one may read failure to reach an organized solution of the problem of quantity. Every overgrown megalopolis today, and every province that its life touches, exhibits the same symptoms of disorganization accompanied by no less pathological symptoms of violence and demoralization.

"From the standpoint of both politics and urbanism, Rome remains a significant lesson of what to avoid: wherever crowds gather in suffocating numbers, wherever rents rise steeply and housing conditions deteriorate, there the precedents of Roman building almost automatically revive, as they have come back to-day."

New York is a classic example, but there are others clear across the U.S. where perfectly good buildings are torn down and perfectly awful ones put in their place. The U.S. tax laws favor destruction of existing buildings and the construction of new ones due to tax depreciation gimmicks which sound as if the real estate speculators wrote them personally. Not even the oil operators have a sweeter racket than this. But at least oil doesn't do anyone any harm. The real estate speculator is rapidly making the city uninhabitable, and making hundreds of millions of tax-free dollars do it.

The over-building in the centre of Manhattan which seemed thoroughly obvious to everyone is just beginning to bother the City Planning Commission. Joseph Leiper, director of transportation for the commission, has said the midtown district of Manhattan is "moving toward the breaking point." The office population is about 500,000 and growing.

In the middle of all this, New York is having difficulty finding anyone of reasonable competence or imagination or energy to run for Mayor. And with good reason. For bad as the problems are today, they are going to be roughly twice as bad ten years from now when the population really explodes.

Much of the harm has already been done. But there's still time to prevent further encroachments. One way to start is to plug some of those U.S. tax loopholes enjoyed by the real estate speculator.

Hollywood Today

Marilyn, Yves Join Clan

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Meet the newest members of the clan: Marilyn Monroe and Yves Montand. Marilyn was Frank Sinatra's date at the Ernie Kovacs party, and together they listened enraptured to Carl Sandberg, another guest. . . . But now, with Montand in town—well, he always has been one of Marilyn's favorites. . . . Miss Monroe, by the way, has been having something of a hassle at 20th Century-Fox. She owes them one movie picture on her contract to have been made within a certain time. That time has now lapsed. The studio wants her for "Goodbye Charlie," and might have to make another, more lucrative deal to get her. Marilyn is in the driver's seat—the best place to be.

The silent Gabor, Magda, is the richest. Her husband inherited something like $10,000,000 and put it all in her name. . . . As for Sam Zee, the reason she didn't marry her ardent suitor in Las Vegas is because he had to dash to Florida to settle matters with his common-law wife. But they expect to be married any edition. . . . And you can expect marriage for Haya Harareet, the Israeli star who is so good in "Ben-Hur," and British director Jack Cardiff who recently megged "The Innocents" with Deborah Kerr in London.

Str Lawrence Olivier, who was to have played King Faisal in "Lawrence of Arabia," is asking to be excused. . . . Everyone asks Joan Collins for the reason for the delay of her wedding with Warren Beatty. It's purely economic. Warren is waiting until he is financially secure. He's had some good parts in the movie business, but he's new—and newcomers don't get paid too much. It took his sister, Shirley MacLaine, about seven years to hit the money jackpot here. Warren will probably do it in less time—at least I hope so, for the sake of Miss Collins.

Fernando Brazzi in the "Piazza" movie, filming in his native Florence reports that on the first day of shooting, "my relatives showed up—142 cousins, 16 aunts and uncles and all sorts of claimants to the Brazzi name."

I asked "Cleopatra" director Joe Mankiewicz, "Is it true that Peter Finch is not going to play Caesar with Elizabeth Taylor?" "No, it is not true that Peter Finch will play Caesar," replied Joe who sounded like John Daly.

Thomson Can't Forgive Twisted News Stories

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters)—The cardinal sin of the newspaper business is the slanting or distortion of a news story, Canadian magazine Roy Thomson said here Wednesday.

Thomson, owner of more than 60 newspapers in Canada, the United States, Britain, Trinidad and Nigeria, told the 10th general assembly of the International Press Institute that he could not forgive a reporter who deliberately "twisted" his copy.

"I feel very keenly about this," Thomson said. "We operate as a democracy and how can democracy function unless people are reliably informed? People must be given honest facts."

He told the 150 newspaper publishers, editors and institute executives attending that "honest mistakes" fell in an altogether different category.

Thomson's remarks were made during a debate on the topic "Is the press falling into disrepute?"

Thomson said metropolitan newspapers, in their efforts to circulate in the suburbs, tend toward sensationalism, drawing criticism.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Fleisch

Following up on my recent column on education, I want to write about Basic Rule No. 2. (Rule No. 1 was to pick the most demanding—academic—curriculum.)

Rule No. 2 is simply this—your child into that class. The difference between a good and a bad teacher in charge of your child's mind for a whole year is apt to be tremendous.

When your child gets to high school, this rule means again that you should find out who are the best teachers in the move heaven and earth to get

Move Heaven Again

With a little inquiry, you'll doubtless learn that some two or three or four people are generally regarded as the stars among the teachers. Again, move heaven and earth to get your child into their classes.

Don't worry if the subject that's being taught by those superior teachers isn't what you had in mind to begin with. It doesn't matter—teachers are more important than subjects for the growth of your child's mind.

If one of the "star" teachers happens to teach Spanish, let your child take Spanish. If another of those top people has a class in business math, let your child take business math.

This may sound paradoxical to you, particularly in view of what I said earlier about the importance of the curriculum. But if you think back and remember your own education, you'll immediately realize that I'm right.

Great Personalities

What we remember after 20 or 30 years is always the great personalities among the teachers, rather than the outstanding highlights of the subjects.

Eventually, what we carry away from school is the push that some inspired teacher gave to our minds—the moments when Mr. Miller or Miss Smith first taught us to really hear the French sounds or made us aware of what Shakespeare was trying to do in "Hamlet."

The most inspiring and memorable teacher I had during my own high school (that is, Viennese "realgymnasium") days was a man who happened to teach mechanical drawing—a subject I loathed and was hopelessly poor in. It didn't matter—he was the man I remember best and he managed to instill in me a sense of space and perspective that I would never have acquired otherwise.

So, whether you're a parent or a student, be sure to follow my Rule No. 2—Search for the best teachers and learn from them all you can.

First, second and third prizes of $100, $50 and $25 have been awarded to 30 junior and senior high school students in the Canadian Forestry Association's 14th annual B.C. essay contest. Five prizes came to Greater Victoria.

Contest was divided into two categories, juniors (Grades 7-9) and seniors (Grades 10-12). Prizes were awarded in each of five regions.

Theme of the 1961 contest was "Growing the Trees and Selling the Products."

First place in the junior division of the Vancouver Island region was taken by Susan Lillian Pears, 14, Colquitz Junior High School, with Robert Edward Botten, 14, Colquitz Junior High School, second and Ray Edford, 13, Campbell River Junior High School, third.

In the senior division, first prize was won by Julia Anne Oxendale, 15, Esquimalt High School; Kathleen June Moxam, 17, Mount View High School, book second place, and Joan Lee Randall, 17, Esquimalt High School, was third.

OTTAWA—Frederick Ervel, Britain's president of the board of trade, will visit Canada June 25 to June 30 to explore opportunities for increased trade with Canada.

Drama Festival Starts Well

By BERT BINNY

Two comedies, one set in the year 1800 and the other Shakespearean, and a Sacha Guitry sketch of the 1930s formed the first night's program at the finals of the B.C. drama festival yesterday.

An audience of 300 heard the festival opened by Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay, who was introduced by Miss Christine McNab, chairman of the B.C. Drama Festival Committee.

TOUGH SPOT

The Campbell River Players led the program with Ernest Goodwin's "The Devil Among the Skins." This is always a tough spot and the beginning players were not helped by a recorded sound effect which apparently got out of control.

They achieved, however, a good measure of the rough, bucolic comedy approach which this play, laid in 1400 A.D., demands.

TOO STRONG

John Ross as the woodman was always a strong character, perhaps too strong in comparison with Bernie Kirchfield as the tanner, who should have been the motivating force.

Duncan Little Theatre's Gallic comedy "Villa for Sale" skipped along with welcome lightness and was at its best when Vivienne Sykes as Mrs. Al Smith was on stage. Hers was a truly delightful piece of characterization, seemingly effortless and excellently controlled.

IN KEEPING

St. Luke's Players of Victoria, who won the southern Island competition here in March, concluded the evening with excerpts from Shakespeare's "The Merry Wives of Windsor." This was a decidedly robust production from beginning to end, always in keeping with the period.

Adjudicator Florence James of Regina found all the plays of good standard.

GOOD EVENING

"It was a very good and varied evening," she said, "with much quite successful acting."

'Strikebreak' Campaign Laid to TCA

TORONTO (UPI) — The Canadian Labor Congress yesterday accused Trans-Canada Air Lines of organizing a massive strikebreaking campaign. The airline is threatened with a walkout by 800 stewardesses, hostesses and purser.

The Congress informed Labor Minister Starr and Transport Minister Balcer that TCA had issued orders to officials to hire strikebreakers.

An airline spokesman said the company was preparing to recruit TCA personnel "because we must keep our service going for the benefit of the public."

The Congress claimed TCA's plans violate the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigations Act.

The cast of "The Devil Among the Skins" caught the spirit of the piece," said the adjudicator, "and 'Villa for Sale' was very adequately acted."

THE VICTORY

Mrs. James described "The Merry Wives of Windsor" as "a challenge" and complimented the Victoria players on undertaking it. "This by itself," she noted, "was a victory."

TV TALK

An interesting event for lacrosse fans in this area will be the presentation June 8 of a video tape of the Friday field lacrosse game between United States Army and Navy academy teams.

Shots of the game will be shown on Channel 12's Summer Sport Spectacular from 7.30 to 8.30 p.m.

Lacrosse fans here will be able to compare the American brand of lacrosse, played in the open on a wider field, with the local brand of box lacrosse.

Thursday's Highlights

7.30 p.m. — Summer Sports Spectacular presents "Parachute Jump" an hour-long show filmed at Fort Bragg, N.C. and featuring sky-diving demonstrations in both free-fall and form jumping, 7-11 and 12.

11.35 — All-Star Golf — 2.

Thursday's Movies

9.30 a.m. — "Three Girls About Town" (1941 comedy), Joan Blondell.

10.30 — "Lucky Devils" (1933 flying drama), Bill Boyd.

3.30 — "What Every Woman Knows" (1934 drama), Helen Hayes, Brian Aherne.

5.30 — "Stallion Road" (1947 romance drama), Royald Reagan.

6.30 — "The Silver Cord" (1933 drama), Irene Dunne.

11.00 — "Defend My Love" (1955 Italian romance), Martine Carol; "Lancer Spy" (1937 mystery), George Sanders.

11.15 — "Carefree" (1938 musical), Fred Astaire.

11.25 — "Payment on Demand" (1951 drama), Bette Davis.

11.30 — "The Return of October" (1948 comedy), Glen Ford; "Abbott and Costello Meet Frankenstein" (1949 comedy), Abbott and Costello.

Common Market Fear

New Zealanders See Disaster In U.K. Move

AUCKLAND (CP) — New Zealand faces disaster if Britain goes into the European Common Market with no safeguard for Commonwealth produce.

Fears that Britain may be induced to enter the Common Market without sufficient protection for Commonwealth interests are rising daily here. Some New Zealand organizations maintain that the country faces the gravest challenge to its prosperity ever presented.

DELEGATION URGED

Suggestions are appearing in the press that Prime Minister Keith Holyoake should take a top-level delegation to Europe to present the New Zealand case at first hand.

Farming organizations claim that New Zealand would suffer even more severely than Australia or Canada if Commonwealth preferences were abandoned.

ACCESS VITAL

Britain is almost the only large free market for butter and meat, and guaranteed free access to Britain for these products is vital to New Zealand's economy.

Holyoake has said that New Zealand does not oppose outright Britain joining the six-nation Common Market formed by Germany, France, Italy and the Benelux countries. New Zealand's attitude depends entirely on conditions and compensatory arrangements.

SAFEGUARDS NEEDED

But he confirms farming spokesmen's claims that it would be a disaster if Britain joined the Common Market without safeguards for New Zealand produce.

Holyoake says representations are being continuously made to Britain, insisting that New Zealand interests must be safeguarded.

C. W. Burnard, leading spokesman for the dairy industry, warned a farmers' conference of "ominous news" of the closer British approach to the Common Market. New Zealand's whole farming pattern had been developed to suit British needs, he said, and it would

Satellite TV Plan for Port

PORT ALBERNI—Plans for a satellite station in the Alberni Valley were outlined by CHEK-TV officials who visited the district Tuesday and were guests at Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Dave Armstrong, president of CHEK, and his executive assistant, Doug Taylor, said un-manned equipment to be installed on Look-Out Mountain is intended to serve the area outside that covered by all established wire service.

The chamber was informed that provided approval of the plan is received from the Department of Transport, operations can be expected to be started by late this year.

Owen Sound Epic

Mural Has Town Buzzing

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP) — An exterior mural, nearly 10 feet high and 70 feet long, has made Owen Sound's newest secondary school one of the most lively topics of conversation in the city.

The first of its kind in Canada, the mural is the work of Karl Rix of Willowdale, Ont., and his wife Laurette. It was donated by the architects who designed the school, Jackson, Tyne and Associates of Willowdale.

LIFE OF AREA

Executed in porcelain enamel, the material used in refrigerators and bathroom fittings, the mural consists of a number of panels depicting the life and history of the area. Ever since the school opened last fall, the mural has been a constant subject of comment by residents expressing opinions for or against or simply trying to figure out what it's all about.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS

Rix, 48, a Viennese-born artist and sculptor, said the medium poses special problems.

"In an oil painting you can slap on as many coats as you wish, varying the thickness of the paint," he explained. "But in this case you have to keep it not too thick, clear cut, clean and even. Otherwise it doesn't fire well and will blister."

The mural is composed of 12 main sections. Rix said the focal point is a combination of two circles, a red one containing an atomic symbol and a blue one showing an ancient type of lamp, the one referring to the modern age and the other depicting education. Other themes are local history, the life of the Indian inhabitants, the coming of the white man, natural resources, main industries, transportation and communications, the humanities, science and the creative arts.

SWEEPING MOVE

The mural's influence is given credit for an increase in high school students taking art.

try to cope with so much more. Previous generations had more security because their horizons were more limited, she said, citing as an example the desire of most of her students today to go away to college, to "see some other view of life" than the one they know.

This was rare earlier in the century, said the nun, herself an arts graduate of McGill University who majored in history and political philosophy at Fordham University in New York.

Despite greater incidence of nervous tension among children today, however, she feels there are many improvements. They have "a much greater zest for, and interest in, life. They think more clearly and express themselves better. They are much more adult."

But they need more from their families than earlier generations, particularly "understanding, patience, appreciation and great love."

Schools, she said, should strive to be places where teenagers can find security and a sense of belonging to a large group.

Success is so important to them they believe they all "have to be super-something," said Mother Margaret, who has been teaching teen-aged girls for a quarter of a century.

"They feel there won't be room for them in life if they aren't tops. They are pulled this way and that, with so many demands on their interest and time. And they are more exposed to deeper depression than teenagers were 25 years ago, because they are

But they need more from their families than earlier generations, particularly "understanding, patience, appreciation and great love."

Schools, she said, should strive to be places where teenagers can find security and a sense of belonging to a large group.

Success is so important to them they believe they all "have to be super-something," said Mother Margaret, who has been teaching teen-aged girls for a quarter of a century.

"They feel there won't be room for them in life if they aren't tops. They are pulled this way and that, with so many demands on their interest and time. And they are more exposed to deeper depression than teenagers were 25 years ago, because they are

In 'Irish'

Sudden wealth descended on a Nanaimo family early Wednesday in a flurry of telephone calls.

First indication Mrs. J. A. Watson, 30, of 1371 Discovery Street, had that her ticket on Dicta Drake in the Epsom Derby had won her $55,000 was when her father-in-law in Vancouver called at 7.30 a.m. with the good news.

ELABORATIONS

"The phone hasn't stopped since," said Mrs. Watson. Her husband, proprietor of a dental laboratory, said some of the money would be used to "elaborate" on alterations currently being made to their home.

The rest would be banked.

WILL SHARE

Pickering said he will share his winnings with his sisters-in-law, Mrs. Elsie Howarth and Olive M. Dobson, with whom he jointly held the ticket.

The Ottawa winners said they would quit their jobs.

In all, about 2,900 Canadians will share in the Irish sweep jackpot of $2,308,059. Of that number, 26 will share the big win, place and show money.

One winner of $55,000 second place money promptly vanished. Huntley Smith of Surrey, B.C., a 21-year-old garage mechanic, rushed away from home as soon as he heard the news—to avoid publicity.

Winners of third-place prizes of $27,500 so far identified are Reider Skretting, Vauxhall, Alta., and Walter Grunsten, Winnipeg.

Mr. Grunsten, wary of an avalanche of salesmen, asked newsmen:

"If you're going to use my name, please spell it wrong."

Berry Crop Ready Soon

Picking of early strawberries in Saanich will start about a week from now and the main crop will be ready for harvesting about 10 days from now, a grower said yesterday.

Tom Michel, 3015 Telegraph Road, declined to predict a bumper crop this year but conceded "It will be a fair crop anyway."

Berry growers are hoping for a minimum of rain until the crop is picked because too much rain would cause mildew, he said.

Beaming Jacqueline Kennedy shakes hands with guest as Mrs. Yvonne de Gaulle smiles at next in line at the Elysee Palace last night. Presidents Kennedy and de Gaulle complete the receiving line at glittering affair.—(AP Photofax.)

France Acclaims Kennedy, 'Jacqui'

PARIS (Reuters)—President Kennedy said Wednesday night the security of the United States would be directly threatened if France were not independent, strong and sovereign.

The president spoke at a glittering state banquet climaxing a gay and affectionate welcome accorded to him and his wife, Jacqueline, on the crowded first day of a three-day visit to the French capital. Kennedy paid tribute to de Gaulle, saying "he stands now

The youthful president and a buoyantly lovely Jacqueline Kennedy took this capital by storm, the sunlit-drenched boulevards lined by crowds larger even than those which turned out last spring to cheer President Eisenhower.

AGREEMENT REACHED
Kennedy plunged immediately into conferences with de Gaulle as a preliminary to the historic confrontation with Russia's Premier Khrushchev in Vienna Saturday.

De Gaulle and Kennedy "came to a general agreement" on how to handle the Berlin situation, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger announced.

The two leaders also discussed, in an atmosphere of "great cordiality," the problems of Southeast Asia, the situation in Laos and "started on African problems," Salinger said.

GREAT RECEPTION
President Kennedy and his wife received a smashing reception, with crowds estimated around 250,000 shouting "Vive Kennedy" and "Jacqui."

The route into Paris took the Kennedys down the gay boulevard Saint Michel—heart of the student section which Jackie Kennedy knew during her Sorbonne days 10 years ago.

As they drove, a cannonade of 101 shots was fired at 10-second intervals from guns on the right bank of the River Seine.

WREATH PLACED
At 6.30 p.m., amid thunder and lightning, the two presidents rode up the Champs Elysees to the Arch of Triumph where Kennedy placed a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

After the ceremony, in a gesture that won him cheers from the crowd, Kennedy turned aside to shake hands with French war veterans lined up along the national shrine.

DEEP INTEREST
In the course of his talks, Kennedy referred to his wife's deep interest in France, recalling that many famous American presidents gained training as ambassadors to Paris, he said his first-hand knowledge of France was "acquired through marriage instead."

RAFAEL TRUJILLO

News Blackout Follows Trujillo Assassination

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Assassins have killed Rafael Leonidas Trujillo, the Dominican dictator.

The death of the 69-year-old strongman—dictator for 31 years and a storm centre in inter-American relations—was announced late Wednesday in Ciudad Trujillo, his capital. The communique gave no details except to say Trujillo fell victim to an attempted assassination during the night. Other information reaching San Juan Wednesday night from responsible sources gave this version:

Seven persons in a car attacked Trujillo at 10 p.m. Tuesday as he was driving to Ciudad Trujillo from his home in San Cristobal. Trujillo was shot. Two of his attackers were caught or killed. The other five are presumed to have got away.

POLICE SEE BISHOP

As an aftermath to the assassination police went at 4.30 a.m. to the home of Roman Catholic Bishop Thomas Reilly, an American who has been under house arrest growing out of a dispute between Trujillo and the church. Bishop Reilly was taken away but later returned to his home with apologies.

NEWS WITHHELD

The death of Trujillo was announced officially 18 hours after his death occurred. Presumably Trujillo's aides used this time to the down military control of the country.

Joaquin Balaguer, the figurehead president under Trujillo's rule, signed the communique broadcast over Dominican radio stations and later telegraphed abroad.

Aside from the communique, correspondents in Ciudad Trujillo said they could not send any news.

'NO DISORDER'

The communique said the country was quiet and no disorders had occurred. It proclaimed nine days of mourning.

The slaying raised speculation in Latin America as to what part followers of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro might have had in the developments.

For a time early in his career, Castro encouraged efforts to invade the Dominican Republic. But recently there were signs that Trujillo and Castro were seeing more eye to eye—in mutual distrust of Washington.

Leaderless Dominican Republic is now adrift in politically-seething Caribbean with Cuba on west, Venezuela on south.

Venezuela Plotters Supplied by Trujillo

CARCACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Dominican dictator who was assassinated Tuesday, President Romulo Betan court's government announced Wednesday the crushing of a plot to overthrow it. Plotters, it claimed, had been supplied arms by Rafael Trujillo, the assassinated Tuesday. Carlos Andres Perez, under secretary of the interior, said the plot was led by two former lieutenant-colonels who held positions in the former government of Marcos Perez Jimenez.

from boots to tanks, says he is trying to negotiate a deal with either Cuba or Israel. "Right now I'm waiting for an export permit and if that's prohibited, I will sell them to flying clubs or any other interested organizations," says Mr. McMaster.

When the RCAF was flying Mr. McMaster's jets they were valued at nearly $1,000,000 apiece. He won't say what they're valued at now as scrap but "you couldn't buy one from me if you wanted to."

"However, I'm a gambler. If I can get a dime over what I paid for them, I'll do it," vowed Mr. McMaster. The once deadly jets sitting just off the highway at Westbourne, northwest of Portage la Prairie, are looking a little worse for wear.

EX-GENERALS GET 15 YEARS

Court Rules Out Death Sentence

PARIS (UPI)—A special high tribunal yesterday sentenced two former French generals to 15 years in prison as leaders of the Algeria insurrection against President Charles De Gaulle last month.

The court also ordered ex-generals Maurice Challe, 55, and Andre-Marie Zeller, 63, stripped of all decorations for their part in the uprising which threatened France with civil war.

PENNSIONS LOST

The two generals were convicted of organizing an armed insurrection after a three-day trial. Maximum penalty on conviction is death, but the chief prosecutor said his conscience made it "impossible" for him to demand a death sentence.

Both Challe and Zeller already had been stripped of their military rank and pensions. The two had surrendered after the four-day revolt aimed at preventing what they called the "abandonment" of Algeria by France had collapsed.

STILL AT LARGE

Two other generals who helped mastermind the revolt are still at large.

The court decreed that the term would be "criminal detention"—a new French substitute for hard labor in which prisoners are subjected to a tougher regime than in ordinary prisons.

'SLEEPLESS NIGHTS'

The verdict came after a three-hour dramatic summation by prosecutor Antonin Besson in which he told the court that after a "week of sleepless nights" it was "impossible" for him to demand the death penalty.

"Justice remains of value only insofar as it is human," he told the tribunal of four civilians, four generals and one admiral.

Both Challe and Zeller maintained they had acted only to prevent France from losing Algeria to the Moslem rebels. They denied they had any intention of invading metropolitan France as Premier Michel Debre had charged at the height of the revolt.

"I may have been wrong," Challe told the court, "but what I did I did for my country."

The generals, backed by extremist French settler groups, had accused de Gaulle of "selling out" Algeria by his program to grant independence to the Northwest African territory.

ANDRE-MARIE ZELLER ... escapes death

Young Sow Produces Record 39 Piglets

EAST ROYALTY, P.E.I. (CP)—A young sow produced her first litter of piglets Wednesday—and farmer Alex Rhynes is mighty proud of her.

Immigrant Workers Held in Toronto Construction War

TORONTO (CP)—Violence broke out again at construction sites in the Metropolitan Toronto area Wednesday while striking immigrant workers continued their efforts to stop all house-building.

The strikers, mainly newly arrived Italians, were in a grim mood as they swept through the suburbs in car convoys to persuade workers to put down tools and thus force contractors to give union conditions.

STONES HURLED
Fists flew, stones were hurled, and when the dust cleared police had arrested 10 strikers, bringing the total of arrests to 15 since the strike was called Sunday. Two contractors were arrested Tuesday on firearm charges.

In North York, two construction superintendents were punched in the face in scuffles that erupted after the arrival of carloads of strikers. Police appeared when one of the superintendents, Owen Richards, was struck in the eye.

Victoria Torchia, 22, was charged with assault causing bodily harm.

'ARMS BLOCKED'
Police said cruisers blocked two cars which attempted to leave the scene. The five occupants were taken into custody.

A barrage of stones was hurled at men working at a development in Etobicoke. Giuseppe Menpa, 22, Ida Girolometti, 28, Marina Nordona, 23, and Renato Pitto, 37, were arrested.

WORK HELD UP

The mass raids on housing were launched by leaders of the walkout after 100 men succeeded in closing a major subdivision in Etobicoke Tuesday. Apartment construction was also brought to a near halt in parts of Etobicoke, North York and Scarborough.

UNION CLAIM

But spokesmen for the housing industry, core of the $150,000,000 residential construction field, maintained that only a small portion of their work has been affected.

Union leaders say many laborers are receiving 90 cents an hour, bricklayers $2 to $2.25 and carpenters $1.40 to $1.90. Top union rates are $2 for laborers, $3.05 for bricklayers and $2.70 for carpenters.

Parents Given $90,000

EDMONTON (CP)—An out-of-court settlement of about $90,000 has been made with the parents of 17 students killed last November when a school bus was hit by a freight train at Lamont, 45 miles northeast of Edmonton, it was learned Wednesday.

The settlement was made on behalf of the driver of the bus, the owner of the bus and the Lamont school division board. Seventeen students were killed and 23 were injured when a CNR freight train slammed into their bus at a level crossing near the Lamont high school.

Statements of claim involving more than $300,000 in damages have been filed on behalf of 20 injured students and their parents.

Bomber Aims At MacMillan

VANCOUVER (CP)—A dummy bomb was thrown through a window Wednesday night at the home of industrialist H. R. MacMillan in the fashionable Shaughnessy district.

The device, consisting of sticks of wood apparently intended to look like dynamite with a fuse attached, landed in the living room close to where Mr. MacMillan was sitting.

Gardenful of Jets Awaits Bidder

WINNIPEG (CP)—War surplus dealer J. L. McMaster of Westbourne, Man., has nearly $11,000,000 worth of supersonic aircraft sitting on his property and he's hoping someone from either Israel or Cuba will snap them up at bargain prices.

Mr. McMaster now is the proud owner of 11 CF-100 jet interceptors—the sleek, front-line fighters which have recently been declared obsolete. Many still fly in Canadian skies until, one by one, they are "disposed" of as scrap to the highest bidder.

Mr. McMaster is one of the successful bidders. He has an acceptance order from Crown Assets Disposal Corporation stating the airframes and engines of 11 CF-100s are his as scrap.

Mr. McMaster, long a dealer in all types of war surplus, and electronic equipment hangs by wires.

Mr. McMaster's CF-100s are believed to have spent their last official military days at Cold Lake, Alta., and were flown to Macdonald RCAF station last year to await their fate on the auction block.

What are Mr. McMaster's chances of shipping his planes out of the country?

Hospital Chairman Stays on Job And Renews Fight

DUNCAN — King's Daughters' Hospital board chairman Claude Green yesterday decided not to resign in protest over North Cowichan council's action to back out of the Cowichan District Hospital scheme.

In announcing his decision Mr. Green said, "until we receive official notification from the municipal council to the contrary, the bylaw will take place in all four areas on June 10."

He added that "I am convinced the people of the Cowichan district intend not to be denied their new hospital at this late date and after the trials, tribulations and efforts of the past 10 years."

WOES IN VAIN

Mr. Green explained that when North Cowichan council voted 22 last Monday to rescind the municipality's hospital money bylaw, it appeared that 10 years of hard work had been in vain.

"I could see no other alternative then but to resign as chairman of the hospital board."

He admitted "I badly misjudged the opinion and temper of the majority of the inhabitants of the Cowichan district, because during the past two days I have been deluged by countless phone calls and many delegations asking and even demanding that I reconsider my decision to resign."

YIELD TO OPINION

Mr. Green said he had decided to "yield to public opinion and not resign and to renew my efforts . . . to see that our new Cowichan District Hospital is brought to a successful completion."

He pointed out that because competent authorities realized that a near state of emergency exists for a new hospital in this district "the minister of municipal affairs may refuse to give assent allowing the bylaw to be rescinded."

The chairman then advised residents in the Cowichan district to contact the three councillors who voted for rescinding the bylaw. They were Reg Clegg, William Bowles and Gerry Smith.

"Let them know in courteous but emphatic language that they have allowed themselves to be wrongly influenced by an energetic and vocal minority."

RIGHT DECISION

"Assure them that their first decision regarding the hospital bylaw was the right decision and the wishes of the majority."

"As for Chemainus hospital, I assure them the KDH has always tried to co-operate and help out in any problems they may have and so far as we are concerned will always continue to do so."

Mr. Green concluded by stressing that the committee behind the new hospital "intends to use every means at its disposal to see that the people of the Cowichan district get the new hospital."

Mrs. Rancier Rites Today

PORT ALBERNI — Mrs. Gladys Rancier, 68, died suddenly at her home on Tenth Avenue North on May 29.

Born in New Brunswick, Mrs. Rancier came to Port Alberni 15 years ago.

She is survived by her husband, Oliver, and one daughter, Mrs. Beverley Griffith, Port Alberni; also two grand children.

Rites will be held in Stevens Funeral Chapel at 2 p.m. today with Rev. Glen Stevenson officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Chemainus Plan May End Dispute

CHEMAINUS — The Chemainus hospital board today is expected to unfold a plan to the Cowichan district hospital committee which it feels may solve the dispute.

George Beaubier, vice-chairman of the Chemainus hospital board, said, "I cannot disclose the details of our plan until we have met with the Cowichan hospital committee."

He said his board wants to co-operate with the Cowichan committee. "We have never at any time in this community considered that a hospital is not necessary and do hope that it will be constructed."

Mr. Beaubier added that his board's proposal "may allow a hospital to be constructed in Duncan."

Coun. Reg Clegg yesterday said "Chemainus is leaning over backwards to get together with the committee in charge of building the new hospital."

He added that "I am the last one in the world to prevent that hospital being built. But at the moment it is just a question of boundaries. Chemainus does not want to lose Crofton and Westholme."

Coun. Clegg did admit that should the hospital money bylaw be put to taxpayers next month and they vote in favor, he did not think North Cowichan council would block the final reading of the bylaw.

"If the people want the hospital I don't think we would do anything so drastic as to kill it. It is up to the people," he said.

Meanwhile a King's Daughters' official said the June 10 bylaw will go ahead as scheduled and that a parade through downtown Duncan will be held on Saturday to publicize the vote.

Uchuck III Returning To Island West Coast

PORT ALBERNI — A new west coast passenger and freight service will be inaugurated June 10 by Barkley Sound Transportation Ltd., which for many years operated a fleet of motor vessels out of Port Alberni.

Capt. Eason Young, president of the firm, announced that Mr. Uchuck III will be brought back from the east coast of the Island for the new weekly run. Leaving Port Alberni each Saturday morning, the vessel's first point of call will be Clayoquot.

Capt. Young pointed out that the new service will not be in competition with Alberni Marine Transportation Ltd., whose Mv. Lady Rose succumbed the Uchucks on the regular runs between Port Alberni, Bamfield and Ucluelet.

Ahousat, Hot Springs Cove, Boat Harbor, Nootka Sound points, including Tahsis, Zeballos and Gold River, will be points of call on the voyage to the head of Espinoza Inlet.

where the road will provide the connection with Kyuquot Sound.

The Uchuck III has a capacity of 100 tons and the management expects to carry general cargo for up-island logging and mining communities. The vessel will also carry up to 12 passengers on the 15-hour voyage.

The company's Mv. Uchuck II will continue to operate on the Nootka Sound run inaugurated one year ago.

Time Doubled For Frauds

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — A 31-year-old man sentenced in Trail last January to two years on charges of passing worthless cheques has had another two years added to his penitentiary term.

Magistrate George Cassidy sentenced Gyula Horvath on 22 charges of obtaining money by false pretences.

North Island Freight Service

MLA Scores Soaring Rates

COURTENAY — A 77 per cent increase in northern Vancouver Island freight rates brought a renewed demand yesterday from Comox MLA Dan Campbell for action by B.C.'s coastal members of Parliament.

Mr. Campbell said Northwest Shipping Co. this week raised its minimum freight rate on the only connecting link from Kelsey Bay to Alert Bay from $1 to $1.77. Rates on milk shipped from Comox Creamery have jumped 69 per cent from $1.66 a can to $2.44.

In Vancouver Capt. Harry Terry of Northland Navigation, which is associated with Northwest Shipping, said he knew of no increase in the minimum freight rate on the Kelsey Bay-Alert Bay run. "This is the first I've heard of an increase. As far as I know there has been no increase."

The rate hike follows only two weeks after locally operated Murray Marine Services withdrew its ferry from the run when Northwest Shipping entered the picture.

WARNED ISLAND

"I warned Vancouver Island this would happen. Exactly the same thing has happened before in attempts to establish a direct link between the north and south parts of Vancouver Island," Mr. Campbell said.

No appeal is possible on the rate increase because there is no one to appeal to, he said. The service is outside provincial jurisdiction and unregulated by the federal government.

"No other form of transportation is uncontrolled and allowed to operate without justifying its existence and rates to someone," the MLA said.

"I again call on the coast MPs to break their silence and urge Ottawa to make it possible for the Maritime Commission to do the same regulation job as the Air transport Board does or the PUC in Victoria."

A population of 8,000 north of Kelsey Bay is affected by the ferry service used by bakeries, laundries, equipment firms and other suppliers based on southern Vancouver Island.

Constable Cleared of Race-Bias Charges

Victoria Motorcycle Const. Albert V. Harwood has been cleared completely by city police commission of charges of racial discrimination in his arrest early this year of a young Chinese driver.

In a unanimous decision

handed down yesterday, the commission said:

"Victoria Police Commission, having enquired thoroughly into the case of the Chinese arrested for careless driving, finds no evidence whatsoever of racial discrimination on the part of the arresting officer (Const. Harwood) or any other member of the police department."

"Regarding the arrest of the driver, we find that this is not at all unusual for motorists charged with careless driving."

"In the matter of the amount of bail set, we find this is not letter on the subject from the in any way connected with the police department."

A letter from the commission to Const. Harwood advised him he had been cleared of the charges, first voiced in a speech to the provincial legislature by city MLA Waldo Skilling, who was quoting a Chinese Benevolent Association.

The case originated with the arrest of young Chinese Low Suit Yew for careless driving, following a collision at the Fountain Circle witnessed by Const. Harwood.

Appearing subsequently in city police court, Low Suit

Yew pleaded guilty to the charge through counsel and was fined $40.

Meanwhile he had been released on bail of $1,000—also a matter of criticism. During the exhaustive hearings, in which sworn testimony was taken from a number of witnesses, it was explained the amount of bail was set as a result of a misunderstanding of the charge laid.

Const. Harwood is just returning to duty this week after recovering from internal injuries he received when his motorcycle skidded and pinned him during the Victoria Day parade.

Off Pole

Coon Up Tree

The raccoon that worried Belmont Park Tuesday by getting stuck on top of a power pole made it safely to the ground overnight. But it didn't go very far.

Later reports yesterday said the animal was high in a tree—25 feet from the pole.

NO WIRES

This, for all raccoon-worriers, represents an improvement. "Exit" from the tree is much simpler and there are no high-tension wires.

At the same time, police have warned young would-be rescuers not to climb the tree to get the animal down. They might fall themselves, they were told.

WAIT IT OUT

Calwood RCMP plan to follow Tuesday's plan—wait it out. They are sure the animal will come down again in the dark and, as long as it isn't frightened by human or dog, make it safely to the wild.

Leave Fawns On Roads Drivers Told

A warning to leave fawns alone, even if they appear to be abandoned by the mother deer, was sounded yesterday by Game Inspector Robert Sinclair.

Already conservation officer Jack Lenfesty has apprehended one person starting to put a fawn into his car, Inspector Sinclair said. Maximum fine for the offence is $300—"and we will prosecute."

Inspector Sinclair explained that this is the time of year fawns are seen along the side of the road, apparently abandoned, but actually the mother deer is in the bush watching.

"People usually think they are doing the fawn a favor, but they are not," he said.

He also warned motorists to be careful not to run over grouse chicks which may often be seen now crossing a road or highway.

Fall Breaks Tot's Thighs

Two-year-old Terry Blanchard, 2441 Blackwood, suffered two broken thighs in a 16-foot fall from a second-floor balcony at her home yesterday afternoon.

City police rushed the child to Royal Jubilee Hospital emergency ward.

Mooney Ready to Back Down To Support Scurrah Scheme

Acting Mayor Ald. Millard Mooney said yesterday he is prepared to swallow his opposition to civic off-street parking projects in order to let Mayor Percy Scurrah's $1,000,000 lease-purchase plan bear fruit.

He said he still believes off-street parking in Victoria's ailing downtown area should be provided by private enterprise.

Display at Gallery

Foundry Pours, Sculptor Looks —Art Has Name

How does a modern sculptor work?

"I don't work in my basement, like a lot of people think. I have the forms poured at a foundry," Elza Mayhew said this week at the opening of her abstract and symbolic form exhibition at the Art Gallery.

A dozen of her larger pieces, done in cast stone with some standing four feet high and weighing up to 400 pounds, are displayed outside on the gallery grounds.

Instead of making a statue to fit a predetermined title, she names her works after they are completed.

Moving toward an abstract form called "Warrior," she said: "The dome, these zig-zags, the arch — a warrior. Don't you see it?"

She said "life associations" find their way into "pure form" and "the subconscious comes out as you work. Sometimes I am surprised."

The exhibit will be shown until June 18, with the larger pieces placed outdoors and smaller works of cast iron, cast stone and bronze, and drawings, being shown inside the gallery.

Mrs. Mayhew recently won special mention for an entry at the Northwest Institute of Sculpture's current showing at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Salvation Army Campaign Enters the Home Stretch

The Salvation Army's drive for $245,000 has entered the home stretch, officials reported yesterday.

Volunteer workers have intensified their efforts to complete the canvass of Victoria residents, who are being asked to help build the new Matson Sunset Lodge and provide Red Shield services with operating capital.

NOT YET CALLED

A spokesman for the campaign reported yesterday campaign headquarters had received a number of calls from citizens who have not yet been called on by canvassers.

"Most of them are from people who thought we were conducting a door-to-door campaign," he said.

"Our system has been to call people listed in the telephone directory, then send them a pamphlet and envelope so they could send in their donation."

HAS ITS FLAWS

But the system has its flaws, he admitted. A number of citizens had moved to new addresses and had not been contacted.

"If they wish to contribute, they can send their donations to campaign headquarters at 757 Pandora," he said.

Drum Rite June 16

Presentation of a sterling silver set of ceremonial drums to the BCN Pacific Command will take place in Beacon Hill Park starting at 7:30 p.m. June 16, not June 15 as reported yesterday. The drums are a gift from the people of Greater Victoria and B.C.

16 Charges

Boys Confess Wave of Thefts

A series of break-ins and thefts ranging over three months was solved by Victoria police juvenile officers yesterday with appearance in juvenile court of three boys.

The trio, 11, 12 and 13 years old, pleaded guilty to 15 charges of breaking and entering and one of attempted breaking and entering.

Offences took place in business concerns throughout the downtown area of Victoria; thefts involved money and, for the most part, inexpensive objects. Dates ranged from March through May.

Juvenile Officer Walter Caldwell broke the case and took the offenders to court. They were remanded for probation reports and sentence.

Smokers Puff Anyway Behind Cabinet's Back

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

HIS MASTER'S VOICE: Yesterday was officially "no-smoking day" according to the provincial cabinet.

Health Minister Eric Martin, bowing to pressure from the Never Touch 'em Club, persuaded his cabinet colleagues to approve a clampdown on smoking.

How successful was he? The "tuck shop" in the grounds of the legislative buildings reported cigarette sales normal.

WHEN IN ROME: Liberal Leader Ray Perrault ecstatically proclaims a great Liberal victory over the fact that 19,000 people voted against the federal Conservative government in the Equimul-Saanich federal byelection while only 8,000 voted for it.

His memory is short. Last September, Mr. Per-rault became a provincial MLA when 48,000 people voted against the Liberal party in North Vancouver and 13,107 voted for him. He was elected. That, of course, was a Liberal victory. Who says figures can't lie?

NO FLOWERS, BY REQUEST: Quote from a postcard received by a friend from his daughter who last week flew to Los Angeles:

"Fabulous jet ride. 30,000 feet, 575 m.p.h. Staying in a Hollywood motel; going to Disneyland tomorrow. No flowers at all in gardens here."

SPEAKER'S CHOICE: Jay-see Eric Charnisse travelled to Penticton yesterday to represent this area in the B.C. finals of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce oratorical contest.

He won the local elimination contest in a breeze—he was the only contestant! Later he downed up-island competition to win the Island finals.

"It's 85 here today," he reported from the Okanagan yesterday, "and that's hot!"

His major problem: he's still looking for an accurate definition of Canadian culture—the subject of his speech.

BRIEFLY NOTED: Anger of a number of "true" Canadians was noted in a city hotel when a census enumerator turned up to ask questions yesterday. You see, the enumerator was what a few locally-born inhabitants referred to as "a — DP!"

Political observers are unanimous in one opinion—Liberal candidate David Green has certainly earned the right to try again for a seat in the House of Commons.

Premier Bennett is off to Kelowna early this month.

His son, R. J., is getting married June 14.

INSTANT ITEM: Friendliness is contagious, says McGillivray of Oak Bay.

Kiwania! The trouble is most of us wait to catch it from someone else when we might better be giving them a chance to catch it from us!

Road Holds Up Ramp at Lake

PORT ALBERNI—The provincial government has recognized the need for a boat launching site at Cameron Lake, according to a report from the Chamber of Commerce fish and game committee. However, construction of the ramp will be held up until receipt of approval for re-location of a portion of the highway, the report stated.

Another report showed that city council and the harbor commission have voiced support of the chamber's efforts toward installation of a grain elevator here.

Announcement was made that the Alberni Valley Tourist Bureau operated jointly by the Chamber and Alberni Board of Trade, will be opening June 15 rather than July 1 as previously planned.

The tourist committee has been answering many tourists' enquiries since the beginning of the year, the chamber was said.

NANAIMO—Premier Bennett is being asked to keep June 24 open for an important visit to Nanaimo. City council feels that only his presence will do justice to one of the most memorable weeks in the city's history and certainly one of the most ceremonious of the year.

The premier is going to be asked to travel to Nanaimo to officially receive the titles to Newcastle Island in the name of the provincial government. Council stressed the importance of this event and expressed the hope that the premier would realize the magnitude of this gift from the citizens of the city to the province.

Another major event that is slated for either June 21 or 28 is the official opening of the new Nanaimo city library at the corner of Fitzwilliam and Pridemore Streets. Date will depend upon when Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes can arrange his schedule to participate in the ceremonies.

NORTH COWICHAN—Because the municipality's cemetery is losing money and customers to other private cemeteries in this area, an application has been made to increase the present plot fees.

Municipal clerk A. Vandecasteyen explained that with competition from six private cemeteries in the Cowichan area, the municipality's cemetery is costing more to maintain than what it receives in revenue.

The municipal clerk said North Cowichan intends to make Mountain View Cemetery a paying proposition by applying to the Public Utilities Commission for an increase in plot fees.

PORT ALBERNI—A service was held here Tuesday for Harry Otto McDonagh who died suddenly May 29, at his home at 218 Seventh Avenue N.

Mr. McDonagh, an engineer employed by School District 70, was born 49 years ago in Vancouver. He came to this district 11 years ago.

He leaves his widow, Margaret Kathleen, and two daughters, Gail and Arleen, at home; three sisters, Mrs. A. E. McGillivray, Mrs. J. A. Grimmer and three brothers, Evan F. G., Ivan W., and William E. McDonagh, all of Vancouver.

DUNCAN—Cowichan Valley Gun Club will hold its annual shoot Sunday at Cowichan Lake Road. Shooting begins at 10 a.m. and the club anticipates there will be 40 engines taking part in the singles, doubles and handicap competitions.

DUNCAN—Valedictory exercises of Cowichan High School take place Friday evening in the school's auditorium.

Guest speaker at the exercises, which begin at 7:30 p.m., will be Mrs. I. Tarlton, chairman of Cowichan school district.

DUNCAN—Kinmen here will stage a $3,000 cash bingo June 8, beginning at 8 p.m. at Pioneer Park in aid of the health centre. Top prize will be $2,000.

France Acclaims Kennedy, 'Jacqui'

PARIS (Reuters)—President Kennedy said Wednesday night the security of the United States would be directly threatened if France were not independent, strong and sovereign.

The president spoke at a glittering state banquet climaxing a gay and affectionate welcome accorded to him and his wife, Jacqueline, on the crowded first day of a three-day visit to the French capital. Kennedy paid tribute to de Gaulle, saying "he stands now

The youthful president and a buoyantly lovely Jacqueline Kennedy took this capital by storm, the sunshine-drenched boulevards lined by crowds larger even than those which turned out last spring to cheer President Eisenhower.

AGREEMENT REACHED

Kennedy plunged immediately into conferences with de Gaulle as a preliminary to the historic confrontation with Russia's Premier Khrushchev in Vienna Saturday.

De Gaulle and Kennedy "came to a general agreement" on how to handle the Berlin situation, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger announced.

The two leaders also discussed, in an atmosphere of "great cordiality," the problems of Southeast Asia, the situation in Laos and "started on African problems," Salinger said.

GREAT RECEPTION

President Kennedy and his wife received a smashing reception, with crowds estimated around 250,000 shouting "Vive Kennedy" and "Jacqui!" The route into Paris took the Kennedys down the gay boulevard Saint Michel—heart of the student section which Jackie Kennedy knew during her Sorbonne days 10 years ago.

As they drove, a cannonade of 101 shots was fired at 10-second intervals from guns on the right bank of the River Seine.

WREATH PLACED

At 5.30 p.m., amid thunder and lightning, the two presidents rode up the Champs Elysees to the Arch of Triumph where Kennedy placed a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

After the ceremony, in a gesture that won him cheers from the crowd, Kennedy turned aside to shake hands with French war veterans lined up along the national shrine.

DEEP INTEREST

In the course of his talks, Kennedy referred to his wife's deep interest in France. Recalling that many famous American presidents gained training as ambassadors to Paris, he said his first-hand knowledge of France was "acquired through marriage instead."

RAFAEL TRUJILLO

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Assassins have killed Rafael Leonidas Trujillo, the Dominican dictator.

The death of the 69-year-old strongman—dictator for 31 years and a storm centre in inter-American relations—was announced late Wednesday in Ciudad Trujillo, his capital. The communique gave no details except to say Trujillo (fell victim to an atentado (assassination) during the night.

Other information reaching San Juan Wednesday night from responsible sources gave this version:

Seven persons in a car attacked Trujillo at 10 p.m. Tuesday as he was driving to Ciudad Trujillo from his home in San Cristobal. Trujillo was shot. Two of his attackers were caught or killed. The other five are presumed to have got away.

POLICE SEE BISHOP

As an aftermath to the assassination police went at 4.30 a.m. to the home of Roman Catholic Bishop Thomas Reilly, an American who has been under house arrest growing out of a dispute between Trujillo and the church. Bishop Reilly was taken away but later returned to his home—with apologies.

NEWS WITHHELD

The death of Trujillo was announced officially 19 hours after his death occurred. Presumably Trujillo's aides used this time to the down military control of the country.

Joaquin Balaguer, the figurehead president under Trujillo's rule, signed the communique broadcast over Dominican radio stations and later telegraphed abroad.

Aside from the communique, correspondents in Ciudad Trujillo said they could not send any news.

'NO DISORDERS'

The communique said the country was quiet and no disorders had occurred. It proclaimed nine days of mourning.

The slaying raised speculation in Latin America as to what part followers of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro might have had in the developments.

For a time early in his career, Castro encouraged efforts to invade the Dominican Republic. But recently there were signs that Trujillo and Castro were seeing more eye to eye—in mutual distrust of Washington.

Leaderless Dominican Republic is now adrift in politically-seething Caribbean with Cuba on west, Venezuela on south.

Venezuela Plotters Supplied by Trujillo

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Dominican dictator who was assassinated Tuesday, Carlos Andres Perez, under secretary of the interior, said the plot was led by two former lieutenant-colonels who held positions in the former government of Marcos Perez Jimenez.

from boots to tanks, says he is trying to negotiate a deal with either Cuba or Israel.

"Right now I'm waiting for an export permit and if that's prohibited, I will sell them to flying clubs or any other interested organizations," says Mr. McMaster.

When the RCAF was flying Mr. McMaster's jets they were valued at nearly $1,000,000 apiece. He won't say what they're valued at now as scrap but "you couldn't buy one from me if you wanted to."

"However, I'm a gambler. If I can get a dime over what I paid for them, I'll do it," vowed Mr. McMaster.

The once deadly jets sitting just off the highway at Westbourne, northwest of Portage la Prairie, are looking a little worse for wear.

Some of the cockpits are filled with barbed wire to keep out junior jet jockeys. Several other planes lack their undercarriage, paint is peeling from the exterior surfaces, and inside, intricate-looking radio and electronic equipment hangs by wires.

Mr. McMaster's CF-100s are believed to have spent their last official military days at Cold Lake, Alta., and were flown to Macdonald RCAF station last year to await their fate on the auction block.

What are Mr. McMaster's chances of shipping his planes out of the country? Not very good at the moment, says a spokesman of the federal trade and commerce department in Ottawa.

Generals Escape Execution

Rebels Jailed

PARIS (UPI)—A special high tribunal yesterday sentenced two former French generals to 15 years in prison as leaders of the Algeria insurrection against President Charles de Gaulle last month.

The court also ordered ex-generals Maurice Challe, 55, and Andre-Marie Zeller, 63, stripped of all decorations for their part in the uprising which threatened France with civil war.

PENSIONS LOST

The two generals were convicted after a three-day trial of organizing an armed insurrection. Maximum penalty on conviction is death, but the chief prosecutor said his conscience made it "impossible" for him to demand a death sentence.

Both Challe and Zeller already had been stripped of their military rank and pensions. The two had surrendered after the four-day revolt aimed at preventing what they called the "abandonment" of Algeria by France had collapsed.

STILL AT LARGE

Two other generals who helped mastermind the revolt are still at large.

The court decreed that the term would be "criminal detention"—a new French substitute for hard labor in which prisoners are subjected to a tougher regime than in ordinary prisons.

'SLEEPLESS NIGHTS'

The verdict came after a three-hour dramatic summation by prosecutor Antonin Besnon in which he told the court that after a "week of sleepless nights" it was "impossible" for him to demand the death penalty.

"Justice remains of value only insofar as it is human," he told the tribunal of four

Attorney General, escaped death

Immigrant Workers Held in Toronto Construction War

TORONTO (CP)—Violence broke out again at construction sites in the Metropolitan Toronto area Wednesday while striking immigrant workers continued their efforts to stop all house-building.

The strikers, mainly newly arrived Italians, were in a grim mood as they swept through the suburbs in car convoys to persuade workers to put down tools and thus force contractors to give union conditions.

STONES HURLED

Flats flew, stones were hurled, and when the dust cleared police had arrested 10 strikers, bringing the total of arrests to 15 since the strike was called Sunday. Two contractors were arrested Tuesday on firearm charges.

In North York, two construction superintendents were punched in the face in scuffles that erupted after the arrival of carloads of strikers. Police appeared when one of the superintendents, Owen Richards, was struck in the eye.

CARS BLOCKED

Police said cruisers blocked two cars which attempted to leave the scene. The five occupants were taken into custody.

A barrage of stones was hurled at men working at a development in Etobicoke, Giuseppe Menna, 22, Ido Girolometti, 28, Marina Nordona, 23, and Renato Pilleo, 37, were arrested.

WORK HELD UP

The mass raids on housing were launched by leaders of the walkout after 100 men succeeded in closing a major subdivision in Etobicoke Tuesday. Apartment construction was also brought to a near halt in parts of Etobicoke, North York and Scarborough.

UNION CLAIM

But spokesmen for the housing industry, core of the $150,000,000 residential construction field, maintained that only a small portion of their work has been affected.

Union leaders say many laborers are receiving 90 cents an hour, bricklayers $2 to $2.25 and carpenters $1.40 to $1.90. Top union rates are $2 for laborers, $3.05 for bricklayers and $2.70 for carpenters.

Pay Now Drive Later!

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—A bill which would permit a loan company to charge 3000 interest on a $4,000 automobile loan before the purchaser even drives his car away went to Gov. Robert B. Meyner for approval yesterday.

FOUR 'NO'S'

The measure sailed through the senate and passed the assembly with four dissenting votes.

Under the bill, a finance company could charge 3 per cent interest in advance per year on car loans up to $4,000 payable in as many as 36 monthly installments.

ALL IN ADVANCE

Assemblyman C. Robert Sarcione said the term "in advance" meant the purchaser would pay the entire interest on the loan before it was instigated. Under most car loans, interest is paid each month on the unpaid balance of the loan.

Churchill Back Again

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill went to the House of Commons Wednesday, the first time the 86-year-old ex-prime minister has attended Parliament since his recent illness.

Gardenful of Jets Awaits Bidder

WINNIPEG (CP)—War surplus dealer J. L. McMaster of Westbourne, Man., has nearly $11,000,000 worth of supersonic aircraft sitting on his property and he's hoping someone from either Israel or Cuba will snap them up at bargain prices.

Mr. McMaster now is the proud owner of 11 CF-100 jet interceptors—the sleek, front-line fighters which have recently been declared obsolete. Many still fly in Canadian skies until, one by one, they are "disposed of" as scrap to the highest bidder.

Mr. McMaster is one of the successful bidders. He has an acceptance order from Crown Assets Disposal Corporation stating the airframes and engines of 11 CF-100s are his as scrap.

Mr. McMaster, long a dealer in all types of war surplus,
